Iran Is Key Spot In Cold War Exchange

Soviet Propaganda Geared Against Current Government

TEHRAN, Iran, April 27—(AP)—A pepped up Soviet propaganda offensive has once more made Iran a hot front in the cold war. The "Free Azerbaijan radio," operating from inside the Soviet Union, is spearheading the campaign against the neighboring Iranian government. The new broadcast line started about 10 weeks ago and has been mounting steadily in violence, even inciting Iranians to revolt.

Before that the Soviets, for a long period, had tempered their propaganda campaign against Iran in an apparent attempt to improve relations with their oil-rich southern neighbor.

A recent Washington dispatch said U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson was deeply concerned over alarming reports reaching him from the American ambassador to Tehran, John C. Wiley. The Communist campaign, State Department experts said, has been helped greatly by economic troubles following last year's cereal crop failure in Iran.

A U. S. survey mission soon may be sent to recommend aid for this strategic Middle East country on the eastern end of the anti-Communist cordon.

Reports of radio monitors here show these four consistent propaganda themes in Soviet broadcasts beamed this way:

1. An attempt to blame United States "intervention" for Iran's economic depression.
2. Persistent charges that the U. S. is turning the Iranian army into an "American stooge."
3. An attempt to picture the Shah—hitherto usually exempt from Soviet attacks—as under American influence.
4. An effort to picture the Iranian government as so corrupt, it should be overthrown.

Tito Softens View Toward Italy, Greece

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 27—(AP)—Premier Marshal Tito today expressed hopes for better relations with Italy and Greece, neighbors with whom she has quarreled bitterly in the past few years.

In a state-of-the-nation address to his new parliament Tito said "newest developments"—presumably the recent government change—in Greece promised "from now on there will be possibilities to substantially improve the relations between our two countries."

Regarding Italy, whose claims to Trieste Yugoslavia has bitterly disputed, the premier said:

"Yugoslavia considers that the present unsolved problems between the two countries should not be a reason for worsening of relations. The efforts from both sides for improvement of relations, for economic and other co-operation can contribute to an easier solution of disputed questions."

In his three-hour, 20,000 word speech to the newly-elected, Communist-dominated parliament, Tito laid down a nine-point foreign policy program promising friendly cooperation "on equal terms" with the West.

A similar attitude toward Russia and the Cominform satellites, he said, is now impossible because of their "stubborn, hostile attitude."

Town Hall Explained To District Residents

Walter L. Strain gave the history of the Salem Town Hall, its procedure and financing at the New Garden town meeting Monday evening in the New Garden Church.

Also highlighting the program was Atty Alfred Fitch who outlined the world situation, basing his talk on the supposition that freedom and liberty depend on action of thinking, informed people. Rev. L. V. Bennett of Winona told of ministry among the Indians in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

There was singing by the group, a trumpet solo by Wayne Amos and an accordion selection by Dorothy Faye Aegerter. Mrs. Roy Severn accompanied the choir in several numbers and John Cross concluded the program with a talk and a poem.

Browder Denies Lattimore A Red

Contradicts Budenz Testimony Line

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP)—Earl Browder, former Communist party chief, denied to Senate investigators today that he knows or ever has known Owen Lattimore.

Specifically and flatly, Browder contradicted testimony from Louis F. Budenz that Lattimore's name came up at a meeting of Communist leaders in New York City in October, 1937.

There never was such a meeting, Browder declared.

He said "it is hard to imagine how even a professional perjurer could think up" testimony such as Budenz gave a Senate foreign relations subcommittee.

"Budenz, former Communist editor who renounced the party, testified last week that Browder and other party leaders told him Lattimore was a member of a 'Communist cell.' He said that at a 1937 meeting there it was agreed that Lattimore should be put across propaganda that Chinese Communists were agrarian reformers."

Lattimore, Far Eastern expert and now a professor at Johns Hopkins University, has denied any connection with the Communists. He also has denied the accusation by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Lattimore was a "top Soviet espionage agent."

In testimony that could lead either himself or Budenz open to perjury charges, Browder told the committee there never was such a meeting.

Budenz himself, when he was on the witness stand, suggested that Browder be called to testify. He also suggested that the committee hear other "high Communist officials" he said had told him Lattimore was a member of a Communist cell.

One of the others Budenz named, Frederick Vanderbilt Field, is scheduled to testify at a public hearing tomorrow. Budenz called Field a Soviet espionage agent.

Field denied that in a statement in which he also declared he never told Budenz that Lattimore was a Communist.

Rural Health Council Officers Are Chosen

Mrs. Kenneth Bell, R. D. 2, Columbiana, was elected chairman of the Columbiana County Rural Health and Safety Council at the quarterly meeting at Lisbon Tuesday night. She succeeds Mrs. Roy Archibald who has moved to Illinois.

Mrs. D. M. Allison, Alliance, was named vice chairman and Miss Lillian Schroeder, Salem, was elected secretary.

The proposed school health program was explained by Dr. R. M. Dunlap, county health commissioner. A report on the Infantile Paralysis Foundation and work in the county was submitted by Mrs. Winifred Byers of Salem.

Tense Situation Ups Defense, Kills Economy

Expansion Of Draft May Be Asked; Funds May Be Hiked More

WASHINGTON, April 27—The tensing international situation brought added force today to demands for new defense funds and extension of the draft law. It all but shelved the house economy drive.

In response to the request of Secretary of Defense Johnson, the House was resigned to vote an extra $350,000,000 for military spending, most of it for airplanes.

And House leaders thought it likely the members who have to vote on the question of keeping the draft law alive for two years beyond June 24, when it is scheduled to die.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the appropriations committee announced committee approval of an amendment that would hike the defense budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 from the $13,911,000,000 recommended last month by the committee to $14,261,000,000.

The extra $350,000,000 was approved after Johnson testified before a subcommittee yesterday.

It would be split up this way: $200,000,000 for the Air Force; $400,000,000 for Naval air; $50,000,000 for conversion of warships and for the anti-submarine warfare program.

With Republicans joining Democrats in supporting the increases, their addition to a $29,000,000 omnibus appropriation bill perhaps late next week appeared certain.

There is a chance that an effort may be made to add even more, for the appropriations committee has recommended a $203,000,000 cut in so-called non-defense military funds and Johnson wants that restored.

The $350,000,000 agreed on is intended to keep the nation's air force at a level of not less than 48 groups of active and first line warplanes.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the armed services committee told newsmen that because of "present world conditions" he will ask the committee next week to approve a two-year extension of the draft law.

No one has been drafted since January 1949, but military leaders want it kept on the books for quick use if necessary. It covers men 19 through 26.

Before the Russian air force assertedly shot down an unarmed U. S. naval plane early this month, many members of Congress hoped they could let the draft law die or at least extend it with "strings" that would require additional action before anyone could be inducted.

That won't do now, Vinson said.

47 Seek Mullins Scholarships

A record number of senior boys from Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull county high schools will compete this year for the Mullins Manufacturing Corporation's four $1,000 engineering scholarships to the University of Cincinnati, company officials announced today.

Taking the preliminary mathematics examination Saturday will be 24 seniors from Trumbull County and 23 from Columbiana and Mahoning County schools, a total of 47. Examinations for Columbiana and Mahoning County students will be held in the Mullins employment office here.

This is the fifth year that Mullins has awarded the $1,000 scholarships. Four annual awards are made with two being given to the top senior high school men in Trumbull county and two to the Columbiana-Mahoning county group. At the present time 13 men are working for engineering degrees under the Mullins plan.

Under the arrangement each winning student receives $1,000 to pay for his first year at the university. For the remaining four years of the course they alternate eight-week work periods in Mullins' plants with eight-week school periods. Money earned during the work periods helps pay their remaining school expenses.

Youngstown Chief Favors Ban On Gambler Communications

Chinese Reds Blame U. S. Ship For Accident

Say Freight Rammmed Vessel; 70 Chinese Drown

TOKYO, April 27—(AP)—The Chinese Communist radio today blamed an American freighter for a midnight collision with a Chinese ship in a Yellow Sea fog. It said 70 Chinese drowned as their vessel sank.

A Peiping broadcast heard here said the freighter California Bear of the Pacific Far East Lines "ignored maritime laws" in ramming the Chinese ship Sinan off Taku Bar April 20. The 8,163-ton American ship still is at Taku Bar, port of Tientsin where Red authorities have begun an inquiry.

Pacific Far East Lines headquarters in San Francisco denied the Red radio charge that Capt. William Murray of the Bear was negligent and "took an unreasonably long time in rendering assistance to drowning people and even then did it in a most haphazard manner."

A statement by the company said Murray sent word of the accident immediately and "was instructed to make intensive and exhaustive rescue efforts, which he did for nine hours over an area of 50 square miles."

The line added that "37 persons were rescued and efforts were abandoned only after further search appeared hopeless."

Asserting that "clearly the California Bear must accept full responsibility for ramming and sinking the Sinan," the Peiping radio reported these two developments:

1. A maritime Commission has been set up by the Tientsin Peoples (Communist) government to determine responsibility for the sinking and to work out a settlement.
2. The Hua Fu Co., agents for the Sinan, filed a criminal action in a Tientsin court seeking compensation for loss of life and loss of the vessel, its cargo and other properties.

Thomas E. Cuffe, Pacific Far East Lines president, said Murray and some members of the California Bear's crew are ashore attending the Red inquiry.

Cuffe said he knew of "no duress, no restraint" being applied by the Reds.

Quick Railroad Peace Improbable, Report

CHICAGO, April 27—(AP)—Prospects for a quick peace appeared dim today as talks began in a new effort to avert a major railroad strike.

Railroad and union officials were summoned to a government arranged conference to settle a dispute which almost led to a strike yesterday on four major lines.

The strike was put off for two weeks under a truce arranged Monday by Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., chairman of the National Mediation Board.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen postponed its strike call to May 10 to permit new negotiations between union and carrier representatives.

The dispute has been going on for years.

The strike issue is the union's demand that the railroads hire an additional fireman for multiple unit Diesel locomotives.

The engines now are operated by one engineer and one fireman. The union contends an extra man is needed for safety. The railroads say another fireman would be unnecessary.

Ten Floats, Governor In SPIC Parade On Friday Afternoon

Ten floats in the Operation SPIC parade Friday afternoon will colorfully depict the features of the Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up campaign which will officially get underway Monday.

Governor Frank J. Lausche will be the honored guest in the parade which will start at 4:30 p. m. on South Broadway. He will ride in the first car with Mayor Harry Vincent.

Twenty-eight parade units will form on S. Broadway, south of the Methodist church. Behind the vanguard of horsemen the units will be organized on Broadway to Columbia, east of Columbia to South Lundy, and south on S. Lundy. The parade will be in five divisions. In charge of the divisions will be Parade Marshal L. R. Cobb, and Jaycees Henry Zimmerman, Darrell Rosenberry, Gerald Melmoed and Robert Greenawalt.

The parade will march up Broadway to E. State, east on E. State to Ohio ave. where the parade will disband. Lewis Briskin will space and start each unit.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the campaign, in cooperation with dozens of other Salem organizations, today urged all residents interested in making Salem a better, cleaner place to live, to take part in the parade festivities.

The parade events are to be broadcast over two nearby radio stations. Six bands, veterans marching units and planes overhead, are other parade features.

The governor speaks later at a banquet in the Masonic temple.

Alliance Couple Sues Over 'Bank Nights'

ALLIANCE, April 27—(AP)—A man and his wife sued Alliance's three movie theaters today for $1,000,000 on grounds that their "bank nights" were illegally taking money away from their customers.

Attorneys for the couple—Mr. and Mrs. Horace Williams of Alliance—called their suits the first of their kind anywhere.

In addition, Manager Joseph Gordon of one of the three theaters, the Mount Union, was arrested just as he was about to announce last night's winner. He was released "on recognizance," charged with operating a "scheme of chance."

In their petitions in common pleas court at Canton today, the Williams sued the operator of the three theaters, the Marsh Theaters, the Marsh Theaters Inc. of Cleveland, and the owners of property used by the theaters.

Williams sued for $500,000 claiming bank night is a lottery. His wife's petition was for $500,000, too. She call bank night "gaming."

Property owners named defendants were: The Market-Freedom Co. of Cleveland; the R. S. Wallace enterprises of Alliance; and the Alliance First National Bank as trustees for the estate of Floyd R. Stamp.

Reds Prepare Chusan Islands Invasion Force

Warships To Lead Attack; Is Vital Step To Formosa

HONG KONG, April 27—(UP)—The Chinese Communist government has massed an invasion fleet in Hangchow Bay south of Shanghai for an attack on the Chusan islands, reports from the mainland said today.

These reports said the invasion fleet probably would be spearheaded by a number of warships, possibly including the cruiser Chungking, which deflected from the Nationalists last year.

The main target of the Communist assault is expected to be the Nationalist sea and air base at Tinghai, some 90 miles south of Shanghai. Tinghai is the base for the Nationalist blockade of Shanghai and adjacent waters.

Mainland reports also said the Communists have massed at least six divisions on the Chekiang coast on the southern side of Hangchow Bay for the attack on the Chusans.

Military sources said the Communists must eliminate the Nationalist hold on the Chusans before they can attempt to mount their long-awaited attack on Generalissimo Chang Kai-Shek's stronghold of Formosa.

Military sources believed the Communist invaders would be favored by the great number of small islands in the vicinity of Tinghai and the irregular nature of the terrain in the archipelago. These sources said the attacking Communists would have all better morale and a greater fire-power to help them.

Hong Kong shipping quarters meanwhile reported that large numbers of Americans and other foreigners stranded in Shanghai now are finding it easier to leave for other mainland cities from which they can find exit to the west.

These sources said Communist officials in Shanghai have reversed their previous policy of placing barriers in the path of foreigners who wished to leave.

An estimated 50 foreigners are arriving in Tientsin daily from Shanghai seeking passage out, but there is a shortage of ships, according to these reports.

Others, including a score of British citizens, have been permitted to take passage on coastal vessels for Hong Kong.

The parade events are to be broadcast over two nearby radio stations. Six bands, veterans marching units and planes overhead, are other parade features.

The governor speaks later at a banquet in the Masonic temple.

Extend Cancer Drive Here Until May 15

The Ohio division of the American Cancer Society was granted permission to extend the Salem Cancer fund campaign until May 15, it was announced today by Dr. A. P. Falkenstein, chairman. Howard Schaefer is co-chairman of the drive.

The cancer crusade here got off to a bad start but contributions are encouraging, it is reported. Coin boxes have been placed in all stores. The goal for all of Columbiana county is $10,000.

The American Cancer Society spends the funds for research, education and service to cancer patients and 50 per cent of the money collected will be available for projects in this county.

It is an important project of the American Cancer Society to make Americans more conscious of the seriousness of the entire cancer problem. Early cancer is curable it is pointed out.

RFC To Sell Lustron Plant

Negotiations To Sell Outright Fail

COLUMBUS, April 27—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance Corp. has decided to ask sale of Lustron Corp. to satisfy judgment for a $36,593,969 government claim.

The RFC announced in Washington it will ask U. S. district court to set a date for a foreclosure sale—unless the prefabricated house plant can be sold before May 15.

The government obtained the judgment against Lustron March 6. Judge Mell G. Underwood appointed a receiver and set a trial operating receivership period.

At that time, it was agreed Lustron could not be sold without government consent until after a 45-day notice.

The RFC over a period of time loaned Lustron a total of $37,500,000, part of which was paid back.

Since the receiver was appointed, the RFC has been trying to sell the plant. Negotiations have collapsed.

James W. Shocknessy, Columbus counsel for the RFC, said yesterday:

"The present disposition of the board (RFC) is to ask for an order of sale on May 5 unless, meanwhile, some other development would justify not seeking an order of sale on May 5; but in any event we expect the plant to continue in operation until sold either by negotiated sale or judicial sale.

"The mere entry of an order of sale of the property does not of itself require the closing of operations of the plant."

In Washington, the RFC said it may only be able to realize about 17 cents on the dollar through a forced sale. The court would determine whether the plant should continue operating until the sale date.

It has been operating since the foreclosure proceedings began at the request of the RFC. The government agency said it thought an operating plant would be easier to sell.

Tuition Increase At Mt. Union Announced

ALLIANCE, April 27—Tuition at Mount Union College will be increased $15 per semester effective with the fall term of the 1950-51 school year, Mount Union officials announced today. This action was taken by the Board of Trustees because of reduced income from a smaller enrollment. This brings the total cost to $200 a semester or $400 a year.

Even with the addition, the tuition at Mount Union College will still be below that of other colleges of the same type and offering a similar program, officials said.

First major league baseball team to win four consecutive World Series games was the Boston Braves, in 1914, when they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics in four straight.

Two children's rooms at the Salvation Army will be remodeled and furnished with contributions secured Friday afternoon in the Quota Club, Hi-Tri Tag Day.

Quota, Hi-Tri, V. F. W. Sponsor Salvation Army Tag Day

Three Salem organizations will unite Friday afternoon for a tag day to secure funds to remodel two rooms at the Salvation Army Citadel. Within a month children, from tots to teens, who make use of the facilities there, will have rooms tailored to their needs and enjoyment.

The Quota Club is sponsoring the tag day on Salem's downtown street. Girls of the High School Hi-Tri Club will carry the tags and contribution cans. The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Allen K. Reynolds Post, will then take the proceeds and buy materials and furnishings to remodel the rooms. The event is being held in connection with the parade and Kick-off dinner of the Jaycees Operation SPIC. A small mezzanine room of the second floor of the Citadel will be converted into a recreation and education room for children four to eight years of age.

In addition to making some structural changes and re-painting the room in bright colors, the veterans will secure junior-sized chairs and tables for the children's use here.

The large basement room will be remodeled into a "Teen-Agers" room to accommodate 50 youths comfortably for recreational and meeting activities. Ping-pong tables, folding work tables, books and other equipment will be installed.

Lieut. Hubert Knickerbocker will direct all activities. He told V.F.W. men the basement quarters will have a snack and refreshment bar for youths which they will operate themselves. The room will be opened immediately after school for younger children while older teen-agers are expected to make the most use of the room during the evening.

If the contributions Friday top the $510 estimate needed, the additional amount will be applied on a television set for the basement room. With the T.V. set the children may watch selected afternoon shows, evening ball games and other appropriate programs.

The goal of the tag day has been set at $865.

Howard McGaffick, chairman of the V. F. W. youth activities committee, is directing the veteran's group.

Mrs. Helen Brumbaugh, Quota Club president-elect, made arrangements for the neat gray tags which tell contributors that proceeds will go for a "Children's rector of industrial relations, made the assertion last night at an installation of Cleveland B'nai B'rith officers. And “where there is a breakdown of law and order in the community because of the failure of local officials to perform their duty, the state has no alternative but to act vigorously,” he contended.

Woldman Hints At 'Bought Protection'

CLEVELAND, April 27—(AP)—“When a lush gambling joint operates in the same community for nearly 20 years unmolested there can be but one explanation—bought protection.”

He claimed gamblers have purchased protection “from crooked officials willing to sell the soul of their communities for personal profit.”

Woldman, who has tried to close the Pettibone Club in nearby Geauga County, characterized Ohio's government as behind the times, and blamed it on the state's system of picking legislators. Under this “undemocratic arrangement,” he said, “70 of Ohio's 88 counties represent only one third of the population of the state, but have 71 representatives, or two more than necessary for control of the house.”

No Waivers On Growth

BENJAMIN F. FAIRLESS has told the House subcommittee studying the question of monopolies that United States Steel Corp. is big, profitable and successful and he wouldn't have it any other way. That's pardonable pride. Every head of a successful business feels the same way. It's something for members of Congress to think about.

Congressmen are always talking about helping small business. That's commendable. But hasn't it ever occurred to Congressmen who want to help small business and at the same time have the itch to tee off on big business that the big ones once were little?

Do they think for a minute that government aid to small business would be worth giving if it entailed signing waivers on the possibility of growth? No small businessman would willingly abandon his dream of doing such a good job that demand for his products and services would justify expansion.

Bigness is not absolute evidence of success. But it's strong circumstantial evidence of resistance to failure. Congressmen who like to talk about helping small business should get straightened out in their own minds. They should be prepared for the possibility that the little ones might get big enough to be scowled at by Congressmen working the other side of the street.

Politicalitis

IN TWO more weeks, Mr. Truman will be stumping the country as chief of the Democratic party. He expects to be busy in this role for the next six months.

This curious preoccupation with partisan politics in a year when Mr. Truman himself is not a candidate apparently is going to be accepted as normal behavior. The electorate has grown accustomed to this kind of behavior by its chief executive.

Still, looked at objectively, Mr. Truman's political barnstorming is going to be a significant performance—that a chief executive serving in what is being called a time of crisis, should have chiefly on his mind the desirability of intervening in local political contests to promote his own plan of political strategy. It is a plan that calls for driving out of office every person who has had the courage to disagree with the labor-union leadership which Mr. Truman believes should be in full control of his party's affairs.

Six months of campaigning for this purpose will be a costly project. Mr. Truman cannot whet a knife for his political opponents and spare much time for steering the ship of state. He will be doing everything in his political power to throw the country off balance at the very time when more thoughtful men are urging it to minimize partisanship. In effect, he will be clinching the evidence that the United States is in the throes of an acute attack of politicalitis. It may not be too much to hope that some listener at some remote whistle stop may inquire mildly, "Mr. President, why don't you go back to Washington and let us decide what candidates we want to send to Congress?"

Three Birds

WARNINGS of A.F.L. and C.I.O. spokesmen that removal of rent control would force labor unions to demand more wages suggests a solution to this ticklish issue. Congressmen should drive a bargain.

Congressmen don't want to be blamed for anybody's rent levels. That would be as bad as being a landlord. But neither do they want to play along with the credo that Congress has a bear by the tail and can't get loose of rent control.

So what could be simpler than to kill two birds with one stone, in fact three birds? Make union leaders promise not to demand more wages if rent control is maintained. Re-enact rent control legislation. Fail to provide any appropriation for its administration, which happens to be the situation at the present time.

Tus, the government would save money, would be able to let loose of the bear, labor unions wouldn't have to demand higher wages and everybody could live happily ever after.

No Middle Ground

THE crystal ball which Winston Churchill is holding up to popular governments that adopt Socialism shows a "dark staircase" descending into troubles still unknown. This was his prediction before the parliamentary showdown with the Labor party on Wednesday. He frankly hoped for an adverse vote that would wreck the Attlee government. But he confessed that he could not see beyond the ruins of a parliamentary defeat. Five years of class hatred, he surmised, had made a coalition government impossible. Things in England would get worse before they could get better. Britain would descend a "dark staircase."

As it turned out, the parliamentary showdown found the Labor Party squeaking through by five thin votes—304 to 299. This was its narrowest squeak. The Attlee government still stands, but it totters. And its insecurity is pointed up with cold precision by one of the few political figures of the 20th century with enough sense of history to comprehend what is happening to popular government in the 20th century.

Its factions have been made irreconcilable by the poisonous doctrine of class hatred. There is no middle ground on which free men can stand for the common defense of their liberty. They have been tricked by the evangelist of hate into letting themselves be divided and ruled by minorities.

Spur To Victory

SEATTLE said. "But I wanted to prove to my six brothers I could do something they couldn't. I didn't get paid for it, but someone passed the hat and collected $27."

In the next two years she made 26 parachute jumps in barnstorming tours with such fliers and stunt men as Campbell, "Tex" Rankin and Jimmy Doolittle. The most she ever earned for a jump was $50.

"My second jump was the worst," she said. "In those days the chute was tied to the wing, and when you leaped your weight broke the lacing and opened the parachute."

"I jumped, but the lacing failed to break. I was too light. For 20 minutes I dangled a few feet below the wing while the plane circled the field. Finally 'Stub' climbed out on the wing and tore the lacing loose with his hands. That released the chute and I floated down and landed in a cottonwood tree."

"I was too dumb to be worried then. I thought maybe that was the way it was supposed to happen."

In 1928 the strapping on Campbell's chute snapped during a routine jump, and he fell to his death. That ended Hildegarde's career as a stunt girl, too. Her mother made her quit.

"Of course, I had no business making the jumps anyway, as the paralysis had left me with a twisted back," she smiled.

Hildegarde then started selling hamburgers at a local fair. She saved up $300 and started her first restaurant, which menued—those were the days!—a 25 cent turkey dinner. She did all the cooking and table-hopping herself.

THEN SHE opened a larger restaurant near McChord field, and likes to remember how once a general helped her wash dishes at 5 o'clock in the morning.

Today she and her husband, Emil, a mechanical engineer, plan a chain of West coast restaurants featuring fried chicken prepared by her own secret formula. They also have formed a firm to market precooked frozen chicken on a national basis.

"All my dreams are coming true," said Hildegarde, a pleasant, blonde, blue-eyed woman in her mid forties. Unable to have children herself, she has adopted two.

Hildegarde still is in recurrent pain from the after effects of her childhood ailment, but she has schooled herself never to show it.

"Many people think a handicap is a detriment to them," she said. "Mine was an asset. I made it into one. I kept telling myself that if I developed my personality and learned to be nice to everyone that I'd overcome this handicap. I knew I would have all my life."

And she said her illness taught her one thing more: "I never say 'can't.' I just don't believe in it. No one can afford to let himself go—or to give way to self-pity. People who do that can never win over their handicaps."

The Winner and Champion

Presidential Press Conferences

By DAVID LAWRENCE

SOMETHING of the formality of the British and Canadian systems of parliamentary interrogation directed to the head of the government has been instituted here in the new-style presidential press conference.

Instead of a crowd of reporters standing with pencils and pads in their hands, trying to get their necks above one another to hear the words of a president, the conference now is carried on in an auditorium with accommodations for several hundred persons. Each press representative must have credentials authorized by the White House itself. Seats are provided and, as each correspondent rises to ask a question, he gives his name to the stenographers and thus the official transcript now will be a complete record of everything that is said.

Under the White House rules prevailing in this and preceding administrations, the stenographic record may be used for reference as soon as the notes are transcribed but not for quotation unless specific excerpts are authorized, as is occasionally the case.

THE new press-conference method does credit to the common sense of President Truman, who has observed again and again the uncomfortable way in which the newsmen have been compelled to operate but there was no way that he could accommodate them with seats in his own office. On one occasion he used the East room of the White House to receive several hundred editors, and he provided seats for them, but the executive mansion today is undergoing repairs. In the meantime, the auditorium on the fourth floor of the old State, War and Navy building is being used, and when the repairs are finished perhaps the press conference will be held once more inside the White House, in the East room.

The press-conference idea is an American institution. It is an adaptation of the system of interrogation whereby ministers in a cabinet are questioned in parliaments. While Presidents for a long time have been friendly with press correspondents, it was not until 1911 that a press conference was tried in the cabinet room of the White House by the late President William Howard Taft. His predecessor — Theodore Roosevelt — met often with the press on trips and regularly invited two or three correspondents to private audiences at the White House, "leaking" information to a few favorites. But not until the administration of Woodrow Wilson in 1913 did the conference of all correspondents come into being. It was interrupted in the years of World War I due to the presence in Washington of many correspondents from nations not at war but favorably inclined toward enemy countries.

The custom was resumed during the Harding administration in 1921 and has continued ever since but always without working facilities. Mr. Truman's innovation will be welcomed as a step that further emphasizes the readiness of the head of the government in our republic to meet with the newsmen representing the people and discuss any questions they care to ask.

TRANSCRIPTS of these conferences have sometimes been published years afterward in book form. The late President Franklin Roosevelt authorized the publication of the stenographic record in books privately published by commercial publishing houses and the proceeds were devoted to private instances of public purposes.

The theory behind this was that the press conferences were not really part of the official business of the government but were private and personal. It is to be hoped that no such view will prevail in the future. Now that the presidential press conference has attained a new dignity, it is natural to assume that any expense connected with its conduct will be borne by the government and any records will be in due time be similarly available to the public, as are letters and correspondence of the White House related to public business. Desk Work

By TRUMAN TWILL

DESK workers have spring cleanups, too, and this results in an extra hour's work.

All but 30 seconds of this work consists of transferring to the wastebasket slips of paper, pamphlets, memoranda, clippings, communications, tables of statistics and articles of special interest which were saved because they might come in handy. They didn't.

The other 30 seconds is the time required to dispose of tobacco crumbs, bent paper clips, old shoe laces and assorted bits of wood, metal, plastic and so on that accumulate in desks between cleanups.

It's a fact proved by innumerable vice presidents that a human being can stay busy indefinitely with nothing to do but keep the top of a medium-sized desk from being covered with a layer of rubbish. If every item of junk which reaches a desk in the course of a year were to be given passing attention, the desk's caretaker could draw extra compensation for overtime.

All that's required to stay busy is to become a member of several mailing lists. This is nothing that won't happen inevitably to anyone who sends away for a magic ring that fortells a change in weather, inclosing 10 cents and a boxtop. Presto, one is a man of affairs with a crushing burden of responsibility on his own boxtop and an attack of gastric ulcers in the making.

If it can be arranged to find a location in an office with a routing system, the advent of the ulcers can be expedited by the receipt of several baskets of litter a day bearing such cryptic messages as: "Worth reading," "I agree!" — "Amen!" — "Suggest for future reference." It will be discovered that this is the same litter which already has been received, but the discovery will take an hour and fifteen minutes.

All trash must be filed under one of three headings. These are: Dead File (wastebasket); For Future Reference; and Wait and See. The last-named category constitutes the bulk of what is disposed of during spring cleanups. These may occur at any time during the year, which means when the pile runneth over. Or when the drawer cannot be closed any more. Material filed for future reference is stuffed away in dead storage; i.e. a filing cabinet. These do not have to be cleaned out often — not more than every five years.

The round file, File 5, or the nearest wastebasket, on the other hand, is cleaned out every day. It eventually gets everything, but the process takes time. That's why there must be so much desk work. Otherwise, how would desk workers keep busy and develop that harried look which comes from wondering whether to put the stuff in the wastebasket, in a desk drawer, or in a filing cabinet?

Finally everything is shipshape and ready for another long period of decision-making. As the fellow said when he told the farmer he couldn't stand the gaff of separating the big potatoes from the small potatoes: "It isn't the work that's hard, mister. It's the decisions. They're killing me." There has just been another armful of paper left on the desk, to be shuffled. This one for the wastebasket. This one for the drawer. This one for the filing cabinet—when it would be so simple just to dump all of it in the wastebasket and use the time saved to go fishing.

BIBLE QUOTATION

And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures. — I Cor. 15:4.

Social Security

By PETER EDSON

Battle Looms Over Revision of System

WASHINGTON THE long Chrysler strike — climaxing over three years of labor disputes in coal, steel, auto and other industries for pension and welfare plans—focuses attention on the coming Senate battle over revision of the U. S. social security system.

It may not be generally realized, but in the background there has been a basic question of whether to continue the present, 15-year-old, contributory social security system at all. Under this system, both employer and employee pay a tax to finance the benefits.

There have been some queer political and economic alliances in this struggle. An extreme right wing group—principally big business employers—has seemed to favor substitution of a flat, government pension scheme for the present contributory system.

The explanation for this stand is fairly simple. Labor unions have been demanding—and getting contracts which provide that employers shall pay, out of pocket, the difference between government social security old age and survivors insurance benefits of around $25 a month, and a figure of $100 or $125 a month.

Employers want to get off this hook. Small companies say they can't afford to pay this differential, without tremendously increasing their costs. Their solution has been to have the whole pension burden shoved off on the federal government.

SOCIAL security officials and welfare workers argue that this may prove to be a shortsighted policy. Their reasoning is that a flat government pension would eventually mean that every person of 65 or over would be put on government relief.

Funds for paying government pensions for all would have to come from annual appropriations by Congress. In this status, these appropriations would be subject to downward pressures by congressional advocates of economy. The result might be less social security for all.

The position of some of the labor union leaders in this struggle is curious. By collective bargaining and by strikes, the CIO unions in particular have been forcing employers to grant pensions over and above social security benefits.

What these unions really want, they say, are higher government social security benefits. Not being able to get these benefits from Congress, they say they are forced to get them from employers. But their real purpose here is said to be to force the employers to support their drive for higher government social security. This admission was made by Walter Reuther of United Auto Workers in his testimony before Senate Finance Committee.

AFL unions have not gone along on this strategy. The federation wants expanded social security coverage and benefits, just like the CIO. But it has held back its unions from bargaining for employer-paid pensions, and has relied more on its own insurance and retirement plans.

A THIRD major force in this argument is the private insurance business. A little background is necessary to understand its position. Originally, the insurance companies fought social security. They thought government old age and survivors' insurance would be a competitor.

It didn't develop that way at all. Instead, social security was the biggest policy sales booster the insurance business ever got. Social security paid only minimum subsistence benefits, at depression levels. They enabled insurance agents to argue that prospects should take out more insurance, to supplement their social security and give them enough to live on in old age.

Now, however, the insurance companies have a new fright. There is talk from the Townsend plan people of the need for $140 a month. The CIO has figured that the minimum need is $162 a month. Walter Reuther says the Auto Workers will have $200 a month pensions within 10 years.

If everyone could get an assured government plus private employer pension of $200 a month, the need for private insurance would largely disappear. Insurance company executives now find them selves in sharp disagreement with their natural allies, the big employers who seem to favor bigger and bigger government pensions.

NEXT: How Congress has boiled down conflicting views on social security reforms.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Checkups Before Traveling By Air

TRAVEL by air has become so common that the question comes up more and more often as to whether it is safe for people with various diseases to travel in this way.

Certainly most healthy people can travel in commercial airplanes at the usual heights or with pressurized cabins without suffering any harm. At extreme heights, such as flying over the "hump" between India and China many passengers suffered temporary loss of consciousness during flight, if they were not given oxygen.

The lungs and heart are the organs most vulnerable to changing altitudes. A few—very few—accidents to the lungs or heart have been associated with flying. In one case, a young man developed a collapsed lung (called pneumothorax) after flying to an altitude of only 8,000 feet.

This, of course, is unusual, but patients who are under treatment with pneumothorax (artificially produced to treat tuberculosis or some other condition) should not be transported by air because they are liable to special risks. It is wise, therefore, for people with a collapsed lung or with some other lung complaints not to travel by air or, if they do, to make sure that the flight is not to go above 5,000 feet. For specific information they must, of course, consult their own physician.

People with infected sinuses may have some difficulty particularly since coming down fast is likely to cause pain. Some substance which can be inhaled or nose drops which shrink the membranes lining the nostrils may be used helpfully to lessen this type of pain.

How about air travel during pregnancy? If extra oxygen is given above 5,000 feet there should be no question of lack of oxygen. However, if heart disease is present oxygen may be advisable if the plane flies high.

The only possible reason why a pregnant woman in good health might refrain from flying would be because of the possible chance of having the baby born during flight. This chance is greatest during the last month.

Each airline passenger must take some responsibility for being sure that lungs and heart are in good condition before undertaking flights, especially if the contemplated trip may take them to unusually high altitudes. With ordinary precautions and with very few exceptions there does not seem to be any reason why airplane travel should be any more dangerous from the standpoint of health than travel on the ground.

Colony Club Employee Wins 1st Step In Suit

COLUMBUS, April 27—(AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court went along one step with an employee of the padlocked Colony Club near Chesapeake yesterday.

The tribunal, in effect, paved the way to hear on its merits a request Common Pleas Judge James Collier of Lawrence county to be replaced in the case.

The court overruled a demurrer to a petition by James Robinson, one of nine club employees arrested in a Dec. 20 raid. Robinson asked that Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt assign a judge in Collier's place.

The club employee asserted

Judge Collier would be prejudiced. The court's ruling means the Chief Justice must file an answer to Robinson's complaint through Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy.

Duffy has filed a supreme court action to revoke the Colony Club's charter. The suit is pending.

HANDY MAILMAN

CLEVELAND, April 27—(AP)—James F. Dempsey, a mailman with 22 years service, rescued five-year-old James Higgs from a burning house yesterday. Seeing smoke, he dropped his mailbag and rushed into the home in time to lead out the lad who had been playing with matches. The mother said she was shopping at the time. Damage to the house was estimated at between $1,000 and $1,500.

Beaver School Clerk Asks Separate Trial

LISBON, April 27—Counsel for Beaver Rural School Clerk J. Lester Huston of East Liverpool, co-defendant with W. E. Roberts of Lisbon, who is charged with conspiracy to defraud, today made a motion in Common Pleas Court asking for a separate trial.

The motion charged that his case would be prejudiced by being jointly tried with Roberts, former county school superintendent.

The second cause in the motion stated that Roberts intends to file for a change in venue (take the case to another county for trial). The motion will be heard before Judge Joel Sharp next week.

Give to Conquer Cancer

Strike Back!

THE fight is on to save more lives in 1950! Now is the time to back science to the hilt in its all out battle against cancer.

Important gains have already been made. Last year, 67,000 men, women and children were rescued from cancer. Many more can be saved—if you resolve to save them—if you strike back at cancer.

Give! Give your dimes and quarters and dollars. More treatment facilities are needed, more skilled physicians, more medical equipment and laboratories. The success of great research and educational programs depends on your support.

Your contribution to the American Cancer Society supports these vital efforts. It helps guard your neighbor, yourself, your loved ones. So this year, strike back at cancer... Give more than before... Give as generously as you can,

These versatile two-piece dresses designed by Brigance are tailored so that tops can be switched for variety. The tailored black linen dress (left) has a sleeveless top and slim skirt with button-trimmed hip pockets. The skirt serves as well with the dressier sheer shadow-striped silk organza blouse (center). Black and white pin-checked cotton sheer makes the soft dress (right) with a full skirt, bloused top. Top can be worn with black skirt; checked skirt looks smart with black linen blouse.

Mrs. Donald Cannon To Head H. H. H. Class

New officers were named at a meeting of the H. H. H. Class of the First Baptist Church Tuesday evening in the church. They are: President, Mrs. Donald C. Cannon; secretary, Miss Florence Miller; treasurer, Miss Ruth Cosgrove.

Games were played with prizes going to Miss Miller, Miss Catherine Hinton, Miss Cosgrove and Miss June Bennett. Spring appointments were used for a tray lunch.

Miss Bennett and Miss Miller will be hostesses for the May 22 meeting at the church.

Members Of Club 11 Win Canasta Prizes

Lunch was served at a beautifully appointed table when Mrs. R. W. Hackett entertained Club 11 associates Wednesday evening in her home, Summit st. A centerpiece of white snapdragons and yellow baby mums was flanked with yellow candles. She used milk glass and crystal service.

The evening was devoted to canasta with prizes going to Mrs. Woodrow Birkhimer and Miss Mary Bohr. May 10 meeting will be at the Birkhimer home, E. Second st.

Benefit Will Be Held By Amvet Auxiliary

Bulletins from the state and national headquarters were discussed at a meeting of the Amvet Auxiliary Tuesday evening in the post home, Mrs. Ray Brudnerly was in charge of the business session when plans were made for a benefit May 13.

Members will be privileged to bring a guest to the May 9 meeting, which will be followed by a social period.

Club To Have Supper

A coverdish supper at 6:30 will feature a meeting of the Three Links Social Club of the Odd Fellows Friday evening in the hall.

Kennel Club Hears Talk On Poodles

A talk on poodles, given by Ben Burwell of the Madcap Kennels of Ravenna, entertained members of the Columbiana County Kennel Club last night at the Lape Hotel.

Mr. Burwell told the history of the poodle and demonstrated features of the dog by showing one he brought. He said the dogs, which are used for duck retrieving, have the peculiar clipping on their legs so ice doesn't freeze to them.

The heavy coat over the chest is to prevent pneumonia, the dog handler said.

The elite of France clipped the family crest on the saddle of the dogs. Circus used the dogs because of their capacity for learning tricks.

Dan MacDonald of East Liverpool was chosen delegate to the Ohio Dog Owners Association meeting Saturday, May 6, at Chillicothe. The association is attempting to secure collective co-operation among dog owners and to get new dog laws passed for Ohio.

The club will sponsor a puppy match June 11 at Centennial Park.

David Bennetts Feted At Post-Nuptial Party

Mr. and Mrs. David Bennett were complimented with a post-nuptial party Tuesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rufer on the Goshen rd. Mrs. Bennett is the former Ruth Rufer.

The couple was presented a lovely gift. Games interested the group and refreshments were served. Among the 25 guests were Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Carrollton.

Will Lead Revival

Paul Ryser, senior at Cleveland Bible College, and a girls' trio from the college, will be in charge of a weekend revival in the First Friends Church, which will open at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Pictures taken on trips to California and Florida were shown by George Lozier to members of the Harris Class of the Christian Church Monday evening in the church. Richard Wilson is teacher of the class.

Select readings were contributed by Mrs. Edward Schuck and Howard Heston. Lunch was served by a committee. The May 22 meeting will be in the church.

Clique Club Members Play Five Hundred

Mrs. Raymond Smith received associates of the Clique Club Tuesday evening at her home, Aetna st.

Five hundred interested the women with prizes going to Mrs. Nevin Halverstadt, Mrs. Margaret Harrington and Mrs. Joseph Pasco. Lunch was a concluding pleasure. May 23 meeting will be with Mrs. Gus Bonfert of E. Pershing st.

The Music Study Club will open the observance of National Music Week in Columbiana by presenting the Rayen a Capella Choir of Youngstown in the Methodist Church at 8 p. m. Sunday, May 7. The public is invited.

Preliminary plans were made at a meeting in Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church Tuesday evening for a daily vacation bible school in Columbiana from Monday, May 29, to Friday, June 9.

Representatives were present from the participating churches, Grace, Methodist, Jerusalem Lutheran and Presbyterian churches and the Church of the Brethren. Another meeting will be held at the same place at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Gayle Gloss, former superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday School, was appointed director of the vacation school. Sessions will be held daily from 9 to 11:30 a. m. Monday through Friday, during the school period.

The school will be for children of the kindergarten age to about 12 years. Grace Church and the Methodist Church being centrally situated and near each other, will be used for the sessions.

Mrs. Jean Ralph Snow, supervisor of vocal music in the Columbiana schools, will present pupils in a concert in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday.

Salem City Hospital Auxiliary will give a benefit card party for the nurses' home in the Masonic Temple, Salem, at 8 tonight. Mrs. T. A. King and Mrs. Walter Miller, of the Columbiana branch, have tickets.

Damascus

Paul Ryser of Damascus, student at Cleveland Bible College, will preach in a revival this weekend in the Salem Friends' Church. A ladies trio of the Cleveland Bible College will be singing.

The third annual Men's Missionary Convention of Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends will be held in the Highland Avenue Church in Columbus May 19-21. Speakers will be Dr. Charles DeVol and Dr. Stanberry Nichols.

Clocks here will be moved one hour ahead Saturday night in conformance with Alliance and Salem.

DiSalle Lists His Beliefs

Toledo Mayor Puts Belief Before Public

DAYTON, April 27—(AP)—Toledo's mayor, Michael V. DiSalle, has set forth a 12-point "statement of beliefs" in his bid for Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

DiSalle said at a Montgomery County Democratic rally here last night, "A credo of frankness and directness, a willingness to consult and be consulted plus a free, open mental and intellectual approach to problems which require an honest, correctly reasoned position should not be an annoyance to any aspirant for the Senate, whose background and qualifications are such as to entitle nomination for this high office of responsibility."

His 12 points, with a brief comment by DiSalle on each, follow:

1. Housing—Operation of the act passed by Congress should determine future action. No longer the "vital issue it once was."

2. Agriculture—The farmer must be assured of a reasonable return for his efforts.

3. Rent control—Where housing stringencies have been relieved, there is no need for rental regulations by federal enactment.

4. Socialized medicine—Opposed to it in principle and in practice. A program should be developed, however, to soften the economic blow to the average family burdened by a large outlay for medical expense.

5. Federal aid to education—Should not be provided excepting in such instances definitely determined by conditions which would result in hardship due to lack of finances to render proper education. Mainly a local obligation.

6. Foreign policy—Must be based on America's acceptance of all obligations coming from the position of world leadership.

7. Communism—Has no place in American life. All persons consorting with a Communist should be removed from all responsible government positions.

8. Deficit spending—Careful combing of expenditures, advocating deferring those that can be deferred and eliminating those that are unnecessary. If the choice is between deficit and national security, "I would prefer deficit."

9. Taft-Hartley law—Should be repealed, then adoption of a new labor management act, providing for acceptance of the individual obligations of both labor and management and the responsibility of each to the public.

10. National security and national defense—Must be maintained at proper high level.

11. Civil rights—Constitution should be implemented by "spelling out the status necessary to protect all among our people in the rights that are given and guaranteed" under the Constitution.

12. National crime—No impairment of the government at any level should be tolerated at any time or for any reason by any source or influence having origin in crime or with those (of) criminal tendency.

Delayed Candidate Sues For $50,000

PORTSMOUTH, April 27—(AP)—Hubert Phillips had to go to court to get on the May 2 primary ballot and today he says he thinks the trouble was worth $50,000 to him.

Phillips, who also has used the name Carrington, yesterday asked $50,000 damages from Oakley C. Collins of Ironton, E. P. Collins and Edmund Pierce, both of Wheelersburg. He filed suit in common pleas court.

He is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senate in the 7th-8th district. Phillips said the three delayed his campaign and humiliated him, when they protested his candidacy. They said he could not be a candidate because he used two names.

Lower courts held his name could not be on the ballot, but the Ohio Supreme Court ruled he could run.

YOUNGSTOWN, April 27—(AP)—Police Chief Edward J. Allen, Jr., was in Washington today to testify before a Senate committee investigating gambling. He is to tell how he closed down a race horse news wire two years ago.

Court Upholds Water Sale Near Mahoning

COLUMBUS, April 27—(INS)—The Mahoning Valley sanitary district may continue to sell water to domestic and industrial users outside its own defined boundaries.

The Ohio Supreme Court today refused to review the appeal of the Ohio Water Service Co. to block the sale outside the district. The case was thrown out of the lower courts on a demurrer filed by the City of Youngstown.

The district, created by special proceeding of the Mahoning county common pleas court, includes the cities of Youngstown and Niles and surrounding territory.

During the war, the company consented to the sale of water by the district outside its territory to include the village of McDonald, where a large war plant in need of water supplies was located.

The company at that time, however, reserved the right to oppose later any expansion of the district's boundaries. The company alleged that the district should no longer be permitted to compete with it outside district boundaries since to do so it would have to buy some 40 million gallons of water a day from the federal government's Berlin Dam reservoir.

The district and the City of Niles answered the injunction suit, but the City of Youngstown demurred on the ground that the court did not have jurisdiction in the matter. The court sustained the demurrer and was upheld by the court of appeals.

Judge Delays Ruling On Noronic Disaster

CLEVELAND, April 27—(AP)—Federal Judge Paul Jones has ruled against immediate determination of whether United States or Canadian law shall apply in trying damage suits arising from the S.S. Noronic disaster.

He held yesterday that the question will be decided when the court hears the Canada Steamship Co.'s claim that damages be limited to $448,409 under Canadian law.

The Noronic burned at her dock in Toronto last September with heavy loss of life.

Ebright Decries Shortage Of Hospitals

YOUNGSTOWN, April 27—(AP)—Hundreds of mentally ill Ohioans needing medical attention are ignored throughout the state, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright said in a statement today.

Ebright, seeking the Republican nomination for governor, is campaigning in Mahoning county. His statement said:

"Literally hundreds of cases certified by probate court as requiring medical attention are completely ignored throughout the state. Only now and then, when a feeble-minded person commits some horrible crime, do our officials rouse themselves."

He said that scarcely anything has been done for the sex delinquent.

"A positive program should include a policy which will build the structures required to house the feeble-minded, to treat the sex offender, and to house the mentally ill. Funds must be provided to attract and to keep the best doctors available in these institutions," he concluded.

Paul Calvert's Relief Hurling Makes Detroit A Threat

Salem Track Team Loses To Warren In First Meet

Frank Tarr's untried Salem High track team lost its first meet of the season Wednesday afternoon to Warren Harding High 76-42, but gave promise of better performances.

Having had only a few outdoor workouts this month, the Quakers nevertheless turned in a good showing. The edge in the meet went to Warren in the sprint events, which they swept.

First place winners for Salem were Jim Hurlburt, who took the 220 low hurdles with a lunging Harrison Dillard-like finish; Vic Lake in the high hurdles; Paul Provins, veteran miler, who captured his specialty in the fairly good time of 4:57.1.

The Quakers' next outing is Monday night when they entertain Louisville here in another dual meet. The Monday meet will serve to tune up the thinclads for the annual Salem Night Relays, a week from Saturday.

The results:
HIGH HURDLES—Lake (S) won; Hurlburt (S) second; R. Reed (W) third. Time: 18.8 sec.
100 YARD DASH—B. Reed (W) won; Willoughby (W) second; Fenece (S) third. Time: 16.7 sec.
MILE RUN—Provins (S) won; Johnson (S) second; Glenn (W) third. Time: 4:57.1 min.
880 RELAY—Warren (B. Reed, Ealy, L. Reed, Willoughby) won; Salem second. Time: 1:38.6 min.
440 YARD DASH—Hawks (W) won; Loutzenhiser (S) second; Mehall (W) third. Time: 1:11.1 sec.
HIGH JUMP—Lattimer (W) won; Alexander (S) second; Hooks (W) third. Height: 5'9".
SHOT PUT—Scarpaccia (W) won; Pasco (S) second; Joseph (S) third. Distance: 41'1".
220 LOW HURDLES—Hurlburt (S) won; Barbits (W) second; Loutzenhiser (S) third. Time: 29.8 sec.
880 YARD DASH—Lattimer (W) won; Wolfe (S) second; MacLaren (W) third. Time: 2:17.3 min.
220 YARD DASH—B. Reed (W) won; Willoughby (W) second; Fenece (S) third. Time: 16.7 sec.
POLE VAULT—Japichina (W) won; J. Votaw (S) second; Krafelk (W) and Seoham (W) tied for third. Height: 9'6".
DISCUS—Lewis (W) won; Scarpaccia (W) second; England (S) third. Distance: 127'3".
BROAD JUMP—Lewis (W) won; O. Reed (W) second; Alexander (S) third. Distance: 20'4".
MILE RELAY—Warren (Williams, Mehall, Lattimer, Hooks) won; Salem, second.

MARJORIE JACKSON, Australia's star woman sprinter, works out at Los Angeles, in preparation for a race May 19 against Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen, Dutch housewife Olympic champion. With her is Mrs. Evelyn Hall, co-chairman of women's track and field for the AAU and former Olympic Games hurdler. The 18-year-old Aussie has beaten Mrs. Blankers-Koen twice. The race will be a feature of the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays.

Kelley Calls Third Manager's Meeting

A third meeting of Salem's softball team managers has been called for 7:30 Friday night in the Memorial building by League Manager Joe Kelley.

Kelley said today that several requests have been received by league commissioners for players who are the property of the commissioner. Those players will be allotted at the meeting.

Two more teams have indicated they wish to enter the Class A league this season, bringing the loop total to 10. The AA league is limited to eight teams and is full.

The season's first games will probably be held on Monday, May 15, Kelley said. He believes it inadvisable to try to play before that date, due to the poor weather conditions.

Eagles Lead Way In Pro Farm Teams

NEW YORK, April 27—(UP)—Professional football set about building itself a minor league farm system today—a system which may some day operate the same as organized baseball.

The Philadelphia Eagles took the first step when they signed a working agreement with Paterson, N. J., of the tenacious little American Football League yesterday. This move could be the start of a farflung organization.

Eagles President James P. Clark called the farm system "something professional football has long needed." He explained that it will give the once-struggling Paterson team all the talent it needs from the overflowing Philadelphia roster, and at the same time, give the Eagles players to fall back on in an emergency.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, said, "there are lots of advantages in a football farm system. The Eagles are pretty far-sighted in leading the way."

"A good number of the college stars on our rosters now or coming up this year lack enough experience to replace the older veterans in minor league football," Bell explained that the National League does not participate in this working agreement—it's strictly a club matter. But it is perfectly legal for a pro club to own stock in a minor league team.

Thus, although there are few minor league professional football teams now, the big-time clubs may themselves organize such teams in the near future, putting up part of the money and getting local fans to kick in the rest.

Deal Appears Rolfe's Key Move For Pennant

By JACK HAND

Paul Calvert, a $10,000 hand-me-down, looks like the relief help Red Rolfe needs to make Detroit a sure fire pennant threat.

Calvert's sale to Detroit by Washington last winter was an obscure waiver deal. But it was a key move in Manager Rolfe's 1950 plans.

Rolfe likes Calvert's low sinker. The manager's neat little book of past performances told a Calvert story that belied his 6-17 record and his 14 straight defeats in 1949.

Calvert came along slowly in the spring exhibitions. By opening day he was ready. Rolfe used him three times in the first seven games as the Tigers surged to the league lead in a spurt start.

Against the St. Louis Browns yesterday, Calvert slipped through two hitless innings to earn an 8-6 decision in the tenth. It was the first game he'd won since last June 3 when he beat the same club with a nine-inning effort.

The Tigers, surging to their sixth win in seven starts, won in the tenth on a walk to Eddie Lipon and singles by George Kell and Pat Mullin.

For the second straight day, a New York Yankee pitcher went the route as Eddie Lopat stopped the Boston Red Sox with eight hits, 10-2. The Yanks unloaded an 11-hit barrage including homers by Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra.

TED WILLIAMS returned to the Boston lineup after missing four games, but he didn't help. Hitless in four trips, Williams' batting average sagged 207 points from .371 to .364.

Sid Hudson, the Washington veteran who was reported "finished" in spring training, boosted the Senators into third place with a 5-3 victory over Philadelphia in a night game. Hudson went the route, limiting the A's to the seven hits.

Brooklyn, home of the rhubarb, popped up with a new one in last night's 5-4 Dodger win over the Phillies in 10 innings. Manager Eddie Sawyer finished the game under protest because of a dispute over a ground rules double by Roy Campanella.

With one out and Duke Snider on first in the tenth, Campanella drove a long fly to left. Umpire Babe Pinelli ruled a ground rules double when a fan touched the ball. The Phils claimed the spectator prevented left fielder Dick Sisler from making the catch.

When play resumed, George Shuba was intentionally passed loading the bases. Pee Wee Reese followed with a game-winning single that hung the loss on reliever Blix Donnelly.

Howie Pollet hit his 20-game winning form of 1949 with a five-hitter against the winless Cincinnati Reds. Enos Slaughter assured the St. Louis Cards of a 3-2 edge with a fifth-inning single following Stan Musial's triple.

A New York at Boston night game in the National was postponed because of cold weather. Pittsburgh and Chicago were not scheduled. Cold forced postponement of the Cleveland-Chicago game in the American.

Wilner Sales of Muncie, Ind., slipped into fifth place in the team standings with a 2,834 total coming on games of 954-945-935.

Maynard Edwards of Wooster, O., landed in 10th spot in the all-events with a 1,839 total on games of 569-598-672.

Edwards' feat was just one of four changes in the all-events. Gene Walters of Wyandotte, Mich., began it with 1,868 for third place. Don McClaren of St. Louis knocked over 584-707-574 for a fourth-place 1,865. Frank Wilfel of Northampton, Pa., did 1,848 for seventh on 591-579-673. That last game also gave Wilfel ninth in the singles.

Ed Buss and Al Luchini of West Allis, Wis., skidded into third place in the doubles with a 1,279. Buss had 692 and Luchini 587.

DOUBLE PLAY—Richie Ashburn of the Phillies grounds to Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers in the seventh inning at Philadelphia's Shibe Park. Pee Wee Reese covers second base, but Robinson reaches out and tags Dick Whitman going to second, and throws to First Baseman Gil Hodges, who stretches to get the ball in his glove, and retires Ashburn. The latter, one of the fastest men in baseball, is rarely doubled. The Brooklyn club won, 7-5.

Leaders Stay Atop ABC's Big Board

COLUMBUS, O., April 27—(AP)—Eighteen hours of continuous firing brought a number of changes on the big score boards of the American Bowling Congress tournament in the Ohio State fairgrounds Coliseum today.

Wilner Sales of Muncie, Ind., slipped into fifth place in the team standings with a 2,834 total coming on games of 954-945-935.

Maynard Edwards of Wooster, O., landed in 10th spot in the all-events with a 1,839 total on games of 569-598-672.

Edwards' feat was just one of four changes in the all-events. Gene Walters of Wyandotte, Mich., began it with 1,868 for third place. Don McClaren of St. Louis knocked over 584-707-574 for a fourth-place 1,865. Frank Wilfel of Northampton, Pa., did 1,848 for seventh on 591-579-673. That last game also gave Wilfel ninth in the singles.

Ed Buss and Al Luchini of West Allis, Wis., skidded into third place in the doubles with a 1,279. Buss had 692 and Luchini 587.

Garcia To Get First Chance In Detroit

DETROIT, April 27—(AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau, whose Cleveland Indians have been idle for three days because of bad weather, today scheduled Mike Garcia to pitch for the first match of a two-game series against Detroit.

Boudreau hopes to work Garcia in rotation with Bob Feller and Bob Lemon. The right hander has not worked a single game this season. Bad weather postponed at least two of his starting assignments as well as all of the three-game series the Indians were to play at Chicago.

Ted Gray, who has won one and lost none, was Manager Red Rolfe's pitching choice for the league-leading Tigers.

The Tigers, who edged St. Louis yesterday, 8-6, in 10 innings, owe part of their first place standing to a pair of wins over Cleveland, 7-6 and 5-4. Those were the only losses so far for the Indians who have won three.

The Indian squad was reduced to 27 today by the sale of Leo Thomas, rookie third baseman, to the St. Louis Browns. The purchase price was believed to be slightly more than the $10,000 waiver figure.

Thomas led the Pacific Coast league with 43 doubles last year, while playing with Portland, Ore. His sale leaves the Indians with two more players than they can carry after May 17.

Columbus One Of Nation's Top Golf Spots This Year

BY FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, O., April 27—(AP)—Ohio's capital takes over this year as one of the nation's top golf spots.

The big event, of course, is the 32nd PGA championship, June 21-27 at Scioto Country Club. Finishing touches on preparations for that $40,000 show will be applied tomorrow as Tom Crane, PGA executive secretary, and Horton Smith, secretary, confer with local committees. The sports scribes will be present, with the Scioto Club picking up the luncheon check.

In addition to the PGA, the Ohio High school golf championship is slated here May 26-27, the Western Conference title meet the same dates, Ohio Senior tournament June 8-9, Women's National Intercollegiate event May 13-17, Ohio Public Links championship June 15-18, and the National Caddy classic at an undisclosed date.

Youthful Jimmy Rhodes, mayor of our town, will be the guiding hand in three of the events. He's general chairman of the PGA tourney, and president of the State Public Links and National Caddy Associations.

Jimmy signed the contract two years ago for the PGA seven-day classic, and for the Zoologians, Inc., subscribed the $40,000 purse, greatest in PGA history.

THE PGA is the third of the really big tournaments to visit Scioto's rugged course. Back in 1926 Bob Jones won the National Open over the rolling terrain, and in 1931 the U. S. Ryder Cup team won a 9-3 decision over the British at Scioto.

Reading, Pa., Products Hit Majors; Furillo, Wertz Star

By CHET HAGAN
 READING, Pa. (NEA)—Chamber of Commerce propaganda proudly lists Reading as the producers of steel products, full-fashioned nylon hosiery, beer and pretzels.
 But there's one other commodity Reading, and the surrounding Berks County, has been producing for 15 years that hasn't yet found its way into those C. of C. bulletins.
 That commodity is major league baseball material. No less than 11 Berks County products have hit the big time since 1935—a remarkable record for an area with a population of only 250,000.
 The Pretzel City's current crop of major leaguers includes Carl Furillo of the Dodgers, Vic Wertz of the Tigers and Randy Gumpert of the White Sox.
BUT THERE are others from the Reading area who carved sizeable niches in major league baseball history. When chips in his throwing elbow ended Whitey Kuroski's illustrious career with the Cardinals only last year, he became manager of the St. Louis Nationals' Lynchburg, Va., farm in the Piedmont League.

 Chicago fans wish the Cubs still had a long-ball hitter like Dominic Dallesandro, the Red Sox hurler whose dapper appearance earned him the tag of "Broadway Charley". His savvy earned him a comfortable job as assistant director of the Boston Americans' farm system.
 Betz Klopp hurled for the Braves in 1944. Bob Katz was with the Reds, also as a pitcher, in that same year. Luther Knerr was on the Athletics' mound staff in '45-'46. Two Readingites got their initial breaks with the Phillies, Pitcher George Eyrich in '43 and Outfielder Jesse Levan in '47.
NO FEWER than 11 major leaguers out of the Reading-Berks County area in a decade and a half.
 And why?
 Reading has had a rather spotty history in organized baseball, running the gamut from the International League to the Class B Inter-State League. That humpy-dumpy organized baseball record had little, or nothing, to do with the city's unusual talents for producing fodder for the major leagues.
 What then is the answer?
 One is an excellent recreational set-up in both city and county.
THE OTHER is an outstanding American Legion junior baseball program in Reading, guided by Melvin Silva, a swarthy-skinned Californian who fell in love with Reading during his playing days in the International League, settled there.
 The secret of Doc Silva's success in turning out topnotch players was that he was John McGraw-like in his tirades against a youngster who played poorly. He gave them confidence, taught them to perform under pressure. He retired from coaching last year.
 From 40 to 50 Reading and Berks County products play in organized baseball annually, so it's almost a virtual cinch that Carl Furillo and Vic Wertz won't be the last major leaguers with the Reading tag.

Drake Relays Begin Friday

May Be Best Meet In 41-Year Track History

DES MOINES, Ia., April 27—(AP)—They'll be off and running again tomorrow in the Drake Relays.
 The 41st renewal of the track and field carnival could be Drake's best. A lot depends upon the weather which for the most part has been on the chilly side in Iowa this spring.
 What he has heard hasn't been good. The weatherman mentioned a high tomorrow of 47 with not much improvement expected Saturday.
 Everything else is in readiness. Bob Berry, veteran East Texas State coach, said "the track is the best ever. It's lightning fast."
 There will be 200 teams in the meet with 29 representing universities and 12 carrying college colors. Other participants are Iowa high schools and grade schools.
 Seven final events in the college and university divisions are carded for the opening day.

THEY ARE the university four-mile relay; university sprint medley; college distance medley; college half-mile relay; two mile run; broad jump and discus.
 Arkansas may crack the Drake mark of 17:29.6 in the four mile. The Jayhawks ran in 17:20.9 at the Texas Relays earlier this spring. Michigan rates top challenger to Kansas.
 The sprint medley mark of 3:23 is also a world record and it may be lowered. Oklahoma, which established the record in 1942, did 3:24 last week at Kansas to defeat favored Oklahoma A. & M., winner at the Texas games in 3:24.9.
 Wisconsin, Ohio State and Northwestern, three of the nine Big Ten teams entered here, also are highly rated in the event.
 They also are talking about a new record in the collegiate half-mile relay. The present mark of 1:26.6 was shaded at Kansas by North Texas State with a 1:26 performance. The Texans are here.

NYU Is Favored In 56th Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA, April 27—(AP)—New York University, boasting as fleet a band of runners as ever donned the purple and white, is expected to dominate the 56th University of Pennsylvania Relays opening tomorrow at Franklin Field.
 Off their performances in the Seton Hall Relays last week, the New Yorkers are favored to carry off the honors in at least three of the eight championship relays. They are the sprint medley, 440 and half-mile baton events.
 They are not the favorite, however, in the mile relay—an event won by N. Y. U. the last three years. That honor goes to little Morgan State of Baltimore off its 3:15.3 winning time at Seton Hall.

 More than 3,000 track and field athletes from 500 schools and colleges will canter over Franklin Field during the two days with the climax late Saturday when a hand-picked field of runners match strides in an invitational mile.
 The mile field is headed by Fred Wilt, the swift striding FBI man from New York; Alf Holmberg, Tennessee's freshman from Sweden who never could find his stride indoors and Joe Barry, the Irish champion now a freshman at Villanova College.
 Three of the championship relays—quarter mile and two medleys—are down for decision tomorrow. The other will be run Saturday.

Electrical Union Voting Opens

CIO's Ousted Rival Seeks Recognition

PITTSBURGH, April 27—(AP)—Nearly 55,000 workers in Westinghouse Electric Corp. plants decide today whether they want to be represented by an infant CIO union or an independent union which was thrown out of the CIO.

The vote in 40 of the corporation's plants in 32 cities will go a long way toward settling a bitter labor dispute among 300,000 men and women who make most of the country's electrical appliances.

The National Labor Relations Board is supervising the bargaining election.

It is on a plant-by-plant basis. Conceivably Westinghouse could wind up with 20 contracts with the new CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) and 20 with the Independent United Electrical Workers (UE).

The NLRB will begin tabulating the vote at 9 p. m. Results will be sent to the NLRB regional office here. Regional NLRB Director Henry Shore says enough results should be available by midnight to establish a trend.

CIO President Philip Murray—who led the fight to oust the UE from the CIO fold because of what he calls its left wing tendencies—is watching the voting closely.

Murray and other CIO leaders personally took to the field in a last-minute flurry of activity to urge the Westinghouse employees to vote CIO.

The veteran CIO leader told a rally near the Pittsburgh Westinghouse plant that UE leaders are backing communism and thus destroying gains American laborers have made under "aggressive, forward-looking unionism." He declared:

"I know you will defeat these distortions of the truth. You must not yield leadership of your union to a band of traitors—traitors to your union and to your country."

High Winds Topple Wall On Workmen

WELLSBURG, W. Va., April 27—(AP)—High winds toppled part of a high wall of freshly laid concrete blocks yesterday, burying five workmen in a heap of rubble at its base. Two of them died, and the other three were injured critically.

Four of the workers were on a scaffold 42 feet high when a strong gust blew over the top six feet of the six-inch thick blocks forming the screen backing for a new drive-in theater.

The fifth was unloading a truck at the foot of the wall.

Domenic Cianni, 17, of Follansbee, W. Va., and William Black, 54, of Wellsburg, died shortly after the accident at a hospital here.

TWO MECHANICS easily handle a 175-horsepower gas turbine engine, similar to one installed in the truck, in background, which has successfully completed road tests in Seattle, Wash. The new engine weighs 200 pounds, 2,500 pounds less than motor installations of equal power in a 10-ton truck. It takes up only 13 per cent of the usual space.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. James Evans

EAST PALESTINE, April 27—Mrs. Sarah Ann Evans, widow of James Evans, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Braheny, East Grant st., after a long illness. She was 78.

A daughter of Samuel and Louise Shepherd, she was born in Tidsley, England, Oct. 12, 1871. She was married to Mr. Evans 56 years ago and lived here the past 43 years. Mr. Evans died in 1945.

She was a member of the Church of Christ and the Auxiliary of American Legion Post 31. She is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. John Hawkes and Mrs. John Harding, both of East Palestine, and Mrs. John Duff of Darlington; three sons, Thomas Evans of Columbiana, Harold Evans of Leetonia, and James A. Evans of East Palestine, and a brother, Arthur Shepherd in England.

Services will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the Van Dyke Funeral Home by Rev. C. R. Nichols. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

James Craig

James Craig, 61, of 118 S. Ellsworth ave., died suddenly at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday in the Salem City Hospital, two hours after he had suffered a heart attack.

Born in Canada, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Craig, he spent his early life in Scotland. He came to Salem 20 years ago from Detroit and had been employed as a foreman by the Mullins Mfg. Corp.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, the Eagles Lodge and the Mullins Foremen's Club.

Besides his wife, Mary, he is survived by one daughter, Marguerite Van Etten of Detroit, and one sister, Sara Craig, and one brother, David, of Nova Scotia.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home, in charge of Rev. H. L. Odgen, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Burial will be made in Hope Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening.

Mrs. Dennis Callahan

Mrs. Dennis Callahan of Damascus died at 10:45 a. m. today at her home after three-years illness.

Born in Salem, the daughter of Maris and Nettie Baker, Mrs. Callahan was a member of the Damascus Methodist Church, Elks Auxiliary in Salem and the Mile Branch Grange.

Survivors include her husband; two daughters, Mrs. George

Rippl of Columbia, S. C., and Mrs. Henry Huseman of Damascus; a son, Richard Callahan of Damascus; three grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Ardeha Hobson of Englewood, Calif., and a brother, Clyde M. Baker of Westville. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

16 Candidates Appear At Farm Bureau Rally

LISBON, April 27—The second annual Columbiana County Farm Bureau political meeting was held Wednesday evening in the High school here, with 16 candidates for office being present.

Party chairmen T. Emerson Smith of Salem and Mervin Clendenning of Wellsville introduced their respective candidates. Each candidate was allotted three minutes to give his qualifications.

The candidates were: Francis Wallace of Belmont county, representative for U. S. Congress; John J. McKee of East Liverpool, state senator; Donald Elliott of Rogers, Jonathan Mason of East Liverpool, Harry C. Smith of East Liverpool, Walter McQuilkin of Homeworth, Delmar O'Hara of Wellsville and Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon, representative to state assembly; Galen Greenstein of R. D. 3, Salem, John G. Hill, Louis Sanford of East Liverpool and John E. Smith of St. Clair township, county commissioner—all Republicans.

The Democratic candidates present were: Ray E. Lewis of Salem and Joseph T. Williamson of East Liverpool, state assembly; James Horger of East Liverpool, county commissioner.

PERFECT RECORD

COLUMBUS, April 27—Helen Haughn, 17, will graduate from high school at Commercial Point in Pickaway county May 12 with a perfect attendance record covering 12 years. "I just kept going," said the class president, valedictorian and editor of the school student paper.

Gains, Losses Make Pattern Cloudy

NEW YORK, April 27—(AP)—The price pattern was cloudy at the opening of the stock market today.

Gains and losses were well distributed, with changes limited mainly to small fractions.

Business was brisk and sales swollen by numerous blocks of 1,000 or more shares.

U. S. Steel, off 1 1/2 points yesterday, rallied 1/4 point at 32 1/2 when a block of 1,500 shares changed hands. Bethlehem Steel was unchanged at 37 1/2 while Wheeling steel lost 1/4 at 54 and National Steel 1/4 at 36 1/2.

Also up were Santa Fe, Consolidated Vultee, Emerson Radio, General Electric, Johns-Manville, Kennecott Copper, and Westinghouse Electric.

Losers included General Motors, Radio Corp., and Texas Co.

Teachers For County System Are Sought

LISBON, April 27—A shortage of teachers in the elementary grades of the county rural school system is anticipated by Supt. J. L. McBride, who announced today that applications will be received at his office.

Teachers will be needed to bring some school faculties to a full complement, and in some instances to fill any vacancies due to resignations, Mr. McBride stated.

Superintendent McBride and his assistants, Supt. T. V. Utterback of Fairfield School, Supt. Maynard Faloon of New Waterford and Principal Earl Smith of the Calcutta school will attend a service training meeting sponsored by the Ohio Education Association in Columbus May 12-13.

Meat Balls Main Dish

IT'S A GOOD COOK who can make plain chopped meat into a dish she'd be proud to have company eat." By that definition, all you have to do to be a good cook is follow this recipe for Roumanian Meat Balls. The meat is lightly seasoned with paprika and the sauce is of the sweet-n-sour variety with plump raisins scattered through it. This is a good dish to prepare for an uncertain dinner hour. It matters not a bit if the meat stands in the sauce; it really gives time for the flavor of the saute to be absorbed.

With this delicately flavored main dish serve a casserole of Celery and Brussels Sprouts. Add potatoes to complete the menu. Make them creamy, fluffy mashed ones.

Roumanian Meat Balls
1 pound ground beef
3 tablespoons minced onion
2 cups corn flakes
1 egg slightly beaten
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons fat
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup raisins.
1 tablespoon sugar

Combine ground beef, onion, corn flakes, egg, salt, pepper and paprika; mix well. Shape into 8 meat balls. Brown balls in hot fat; add water, lemon juice, raisins and sugar; cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes, or until thoroughly cooked. Serve meat balls with raisin sauce.

Yield: 4 servings (2 meat balls each).

Celery and Brussels Sprouts—Casserole

2 cups coarsely chopped celery
2 cups Brussels Sprouts
4 tablespoons butter
4 Tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 cup ovenpopped rice cereal
1 teaspoon melted butter
Cook vegetables separately in boiling water until tender; drain well. Melt butter; stir in flour and salt; blend in milk. Heat until thick and creamy, stirring constantly. Place alternate layers of celery and sprouts in buttered casserole. Cover with cream sauce. Sprinkle with crushed oven-popped rice cereal which has been mixed with melted butter. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Bananas—Versatile Fruit

HAVE you discovered the double duty fruit and the delicious duties it can perform in your meals? The double duty fruit is the banana and well does it earn its name because when the banana is cooked, it is just as suitable and delicious for an entree as it is for dessert.

When you are seeking something to live up to the main course, a baked banana will do it beautifully. It can be served plain for this purpose; that is, peeled, brushed with melted butter, seasoned and baked; or it can take on suitable trimmings such as cranberry sauce, or tart jams and jellies.

That is only the beginning of the cooked bananas adaptability. Just as delicious is a baked banana for dessert. Serve the plain baked banana with cream, syrup or a hot fruit sauce and there is dessert easily as that. A baked banana is a deliciously satisfying finale to a meal, with the glamor of the tropics in its flavor. When you add baked bananas to your cooking skills, you add a very versatile dish that can be carried to the mood of any meal for either entree or dessert. How to bake bananas as well as some delicious ways to vary them is included in these instructions.

Baked Bananas
4 firm bananas
1½ tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Salt

Use all-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas. Peel bananas. Place into a well-greased baking dish. Brush well with butter or margarine and sprinkle lightly with salt. Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) 15 to 18 minutes, or until bananas are tender... easily pierced with a fork. Serve hot as a vegetable or as a dessert with cream, syrup or a hot fruit sauce. Four servings.

Important: When browning is desired, place the baked bananas under broiler heat for 1 to 2 minutes.

Variations
BANANAS BAKED WITH BROWN SUGAR. Sprinkle bananas lightly with brown sugar. Bake as directed in recipe. Serve hot as a sweet entree with beef, ham, lamb or chicken, or as a hot dessert.

BANANAS BAKED WITH CRANBERRIES. Pour 1 cup hot cranberry sauce over bananas. Bake as directed in recipe. Serve hot with beef, chicken or turkey. Tart jams, jellies or marmalades may be used in place of cranberry sauce.

BANANAS BAKED WITH ORANGE SAUCE. Pour 1 cup hot Orange Sauce over bananas. Bake as directed in recipe. Serve hot as a sweet entree with duck or ham, or as a hot dessert.

BAKED BANANAS WITH CURRY SAUCE. Pour 1 to 2 cups of your favorite curry sauce over bananas. Bake as directed in recipe. Serve hot with rice, shrimp, chicken, duck, pork or lamb.

HAM-BONE SOUP
When the last of the ham has been eaten—use the bone, too. Crack the bone and cook it in a kettle of split pea or navy bean soup. Make the soup in a kettle for even simmering and easy cleaning.

Ohio Farm Bureau Begins Poll To Get Views On Support Plan

COLUMBUS, April 27 — The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation began this week to poll its 63,000 members to determine whether they favor keeping the present farm law or want the Brannan Plan enacted.

Everett F. Rittenour, Piketon, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau, said today that he expects more than 50,000 farmers to answer the poll. The questionnaire is being sent to 25,000 members who meet in 1500 advisory councils each month. It is also being printed in the May Ohio Farm Bureau News, which has a circulation of 74,000.

"There is great interest among farmers in securing a sound farm program and we want to know if they favor the Agriculture Act of 1949, or wish it amended, or repealed," Rittenour said.

The Farm Bureau Advisory Council Guide for May is "Building a Sound Farm Program." It is based on a set of principles for building a sound farm program which were adopted by the board of trustees of the Ohio Farm Bureau March 15.

Rittenour pointed out that the Guide makes a comparison between the present price support program law and the production payment plan advocated by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan. Information secured from these discussion guides and polls will be presented to the board of trustees of the Farm Bureau. The federation is now on record as supporting the present farm legislation with some minor amendments.

"We are taking this poll to get the grass-root thinking of our Ohio farmers," Rittenour stated. "If there has been a shift in the thinking of farmers on a farm program, we want to know it so that we can bring it to the attention of our delegate body for their action."

Bad Sanitation Costing Dairymen Money, Claim

COLUMBUS, April 27—Inadequate sanitation standards are costing Ohio dairymen money, O. E. Anderson, secretary of the Ohio Dairy Products Association, said here last week.

Speaking before the fourth annual meeting of the Ohio Association of Public Health Sanitarians, the former Salem man said: "Ohio cheese and butter is priced down on eastern markets merely because it is produced in Ohio. If these products come from Ohio, they are automatically under par."

Mr. Anderson laid the blame for such a situation on outdated production methods. "I have found many farms producing dairy products as was done 30 years ago. No sanitation. Not the least understanding of sanitation as a way of life.

"How long can we continue this way?" Mr. Anderson asked the sanitarians. He urged the public health men to turn their attentions to today's teen-age farm boys and girls as the best means of improving rural sanitation in Ohio.

"If the boys and girls learn this better way of life, they will live it, and it will be reflected in better production and more income on the dairy farm 10 years hence," he said. The following officers were chosen for the coming year.

Gene Crawford of Mansfield, president; Dr. R. T. Kennedy of Columbus, president-elect; James McClanahan, Mt. Gilead, vice president; E. A. Graber of the Ohio Department of Health, secretary-treasurer, and Paul Bennington of Newark and Don Atchison of Cleveland, directors.

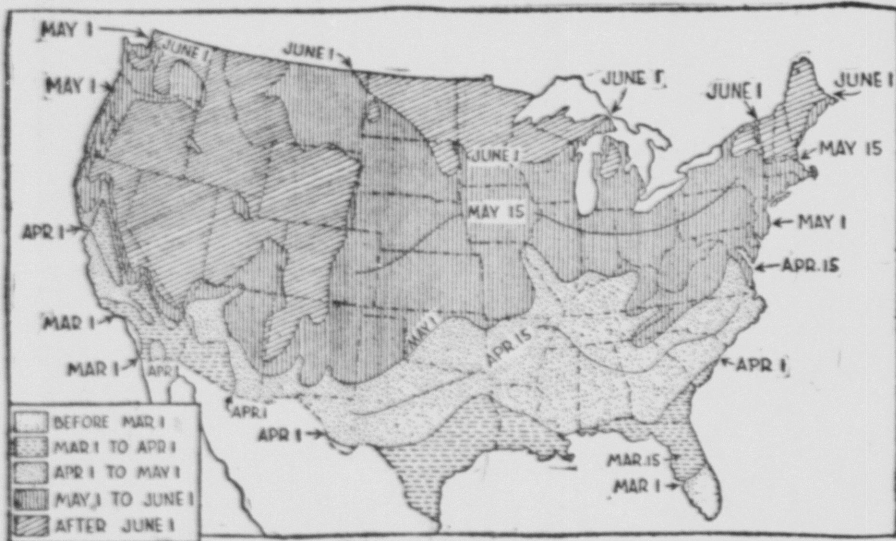

Station Extends Spray Advice For Sale Area

Following is another fruit spray talk from the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster: Last Friday's recommendation to cover all apple varieties at late delayed or beyond if rain is forecast still holds and will soon apply, if not already, in the Delaware, Knox, Jefferson, Van Wert, Crawford, Wooster and Sale areas. Varieties range from green tip to delayed dormant in the Sale area.

Salem Farmer's Cow Completes Testing

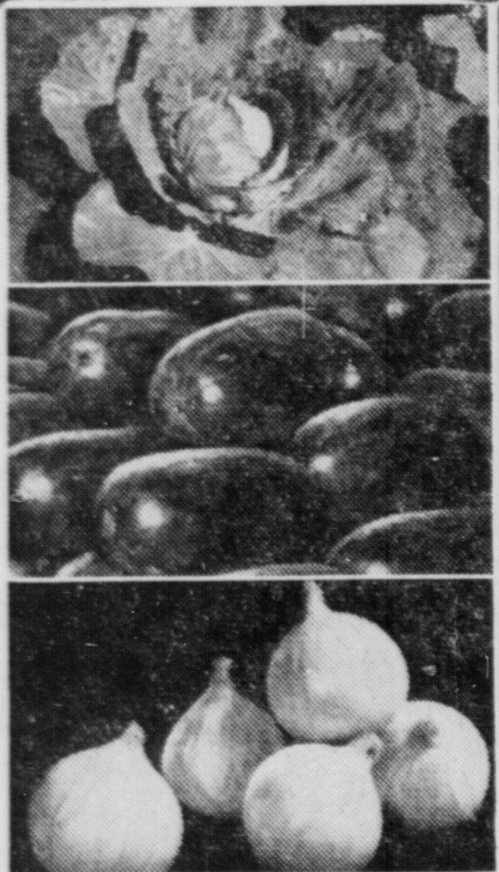

Delwood Pontiac Inka Jud, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Donald Phillips of R. D. Salem, has completed a 365-day production test of 702 pounds of butterfat and 18,476 pounds of milk testing 3.8 per cent made in Herd Improvement Registry. Testing was supervised by Ohio State University, in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This cow was milked 3 times daily and was 3 years 1 month of age when she began her test period.

OHIO AIDS PROGRAM Ohio is the 27th state to come in under the Keep America Green program, encouraged by the American Forest Products Industries, Inc. Washington started in 1941. The purpose of the program is to remind the public that we must prevent forest fires and more trees should be grown. At present a forest fire starts every three minutes and these 170,000 forest fires will burn over an area the size of Indiana in one year.

Station Supervises 32 Experimental Forests

The number one forestry problem in Ohio is the intensive management of privately owned woodlands, according to O. D. Diller, chairman of the Department of Forestry at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Of the three and three-fourths million acres of Ohio land now covered with forest, 93 percent is privately owned, and almost three-fourths of this area is heavily depleted because of past mismanagement.

In 1946, continues Diller, the Ohio station initiated a long-range program to establish a series of experimental forests which would be intensively managed under the continuous inventory system. There are now 32 of these forests in 27 counties which are under the supervision of Station foresters.

These tracts are already yielding important information on growth rate and economic returns which can be expected from well-managed woodlands.

Several of these woodlands contain from six to eight thousand board feet per acre and are growing between two or three hundred board feet per acre as compared to an average annual growth of less than 100 board feet in most Ohio woodlands.

One fourth of New York City's water comes from the Croton River.

Lamb and Vegetables

FIRST touches of spring send out a call for tempting lamb pies—tender chunks of lamb joined with the season's colorful vegetables and flaky biscuit dough. It's a combination that's equally as tempting when prepared with fresh lamb cubes or with leftover from yesterday's lamb roast.

According to home economist Reba Staggs, when buying fresh lamb for pies homemakers should choose lamb neck, breast or shoulder for cubing. These are the less tender and usually the most thrifty cuts.

In preparing the fresh lamb pie, the cubes are first browned in their own or added fat, then covered with liquid. The kettle is tightly covered and the meat allowed to simmer until tender—about 1 to 1½ hours. Vegetables such as potatoes, celery, onion, carrots, peas or cut green beans are added just long enough before the end of the cooking time so they will be tender. When the meat is cooked, the liquid is drained and thickened for gravy, allowing two tablespoons flour for each cup of liquid.

Here is where the stew officially turns into a meat pie. A casserole is lined with thin biscuit dough and filled with the stew. Additional biscuit dough covers the casserole. It is cooked in a hot oven (400 F.) for about 20 minutes or until browned.

With leftover lamb in the refrigerator another version of lamb pie may be made in limited time. Diced cooked lamb is heated in vegetable soup. The mixture is thickened with flour, placed in a casserole, topped with mashed potatoes or biscuit dough, then slipped in the oven for a golden finish.

Creole Lamb Chops

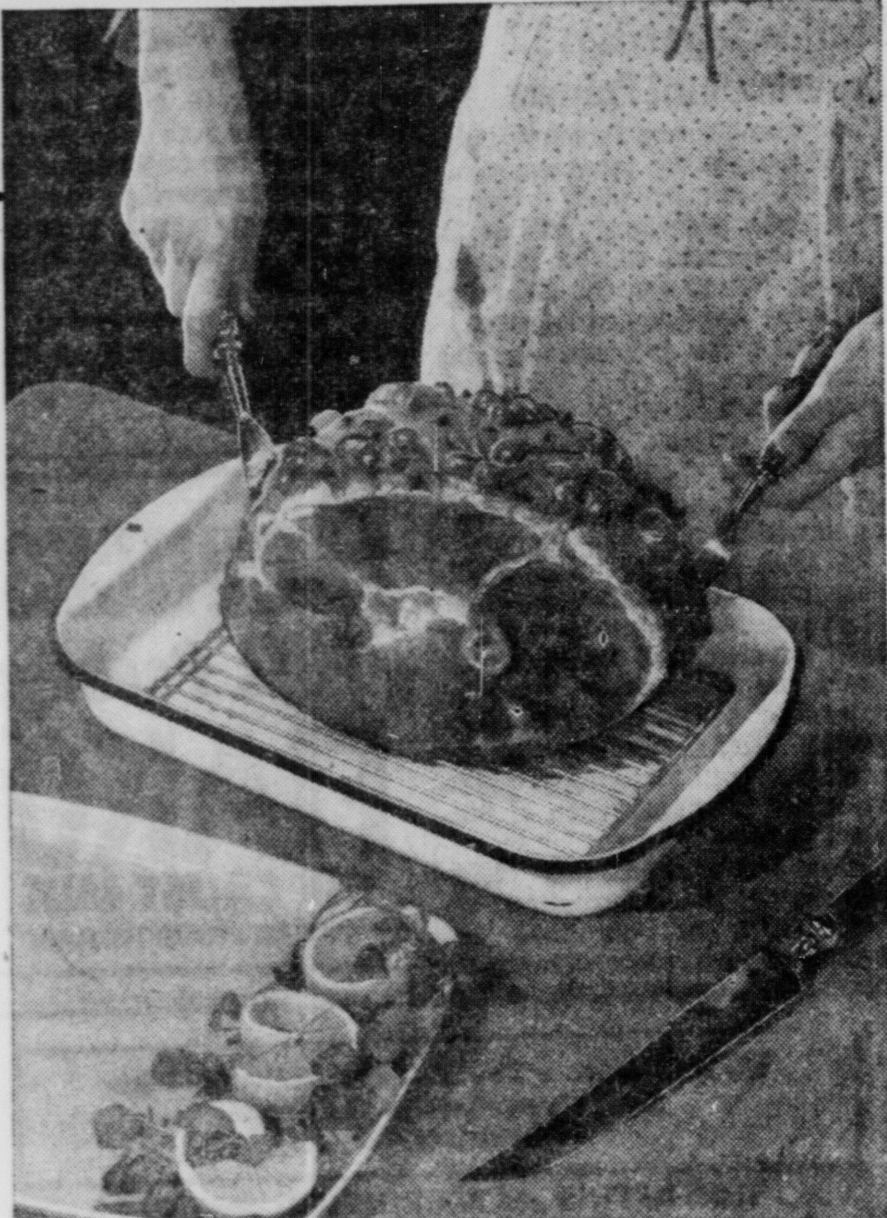

4 lamb shoulder chops, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
1 T lard or drippings
½ c rice
1 medium onion, cut in 4 slices
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 green pepper, cut in 4 rings
1 t salt
¼ t pepper
1 T flour

Brown chops on all sides in lard or drippings. Place in a casserole or covered baking dish. Drain tomatoes and save juice. On each chop, arrange in this order, the following, 2 tablespoons rice, slice onion, ½ tomato and 1 green pepper ring. Season. Heat ½ cup tomato juice to boiling and pour around chops. Cover closely. Bake in a slow oven (300 F.) 1½ hours. Thicken cooking liquid with flour. Serve over chips. Four servings.

Stuffed Lamb Shoulder

Ingredients: Three-fourths to one cup soft bread crumbs (1 slice fresh bread), 1 small onion (finely minced), ¼ cup finely diced apple (1 medium-size), ¼ cup finely diced celery (1 stalk), 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 4 pounds lamb shoulder (boned and cut with large pocket for stuffing), ¼ cup cider vinegar.

Method: Mix bread crumbs, onion, apple, celery with 1 teaspoon of the salt and ¼ teaspoon of the pepper. Stuff into pocket of lamb and sew up. Put on rack in roasting pan, sprinkle with vinegar and remaining salt and place in slow (325 F.) oven for three hours—about 45 minutes per pound. Baste a few times during roasting with drippings in pan.

Baked ham always sets the stage for a memorable meal—whether it's a half ham for a Saturday night buffet or a whole ham for a company dinner. Ham is thrifty, too. After its first gala appearance, it can be served in many attractive ways. Shown above is a tender half ham ready to be served on a gay orange and parsley decked platter.

Ham For Glamor, Thrift

A whole or half ham is always a thrifty buy. There's a fine company ham dinner plus lots of good everyday eating—all wrapped up in the same package!

For its first appearance, send the ham to the table—baked and glazed and looking like a picture on its color-bedecked platter. Bake the ham according to the directions on the wrapper or instruction tag. Place it, fat side up, on a rack in an uncovered porcelain enameled baking pan or roaster.

About a half hour before the ham is done, take from the oven and remove the rind. Score fat lightly with a sharp knife and spread the surface with brown sugar, honey or apricot jam. Return to the oven until the surface is well glazed. Decorate with Maraschino cherries and cloves. Serve on a platter garnished with carrot curls, apricot halves or spiced crab apples nestled in greens.

What's left of the ham will be a welcome treat for the family if it's served in a variety of different ways. Try these:

1. Arrange slices of ham in a greased baking pan. Top each slice with a ring of canned pineapple. Sprinkle with brown sugar and heat until the sugar is melted.

2. Cube some of the ham and bake with escalloped potatoes for a hearty main dish.

3. Mix the last bits of the ham into cream sauce and add cooked peas and a dash of prepared mustard. Serve hot over freshly baked baking powder biscuits.

combine meat stock, vinegar and brown sugar and season with bay leaf, thyme and cloves.

Barbecued Short Ribs

3 pounds short ribs, 3-in. long
2 t fat
1 medium onion, chopped
2 T brown sugar
1 c catsup
½ c water

½ c diced celery
1 t dry mustard
3 T Worcestershire sauce
2 t salt
Brown ribs in fat. Brown onion. Add remaining ingredients to short ribs. Cover. When boiling point is reached, turn to simmer flame and let simmer for 1½ hours. Serves 4.

Spareribs Stick to Ribs

FORTY-NINE SPARERIBS

2 strips of spareribs (4-5 lbs.)
Salt and pepper
2/3 cup brown sugar
1 cup pineapple juice
1 cup dried prunes, soaked
½ cup raisins
1 cup canned apricots

Have butcher crack rib bones across middle. Wipe spareribs clean with damp cloth. Cut in serving pieces. Season with salt and pepper. Place in baking pan. Sprinkle brown sugar over spareribs and bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 15 minutes. Add pineapple juice and bake 45 minutes longer, basting frequently. Then cover with the prunes and bake for 1 hour or until meat is tender and well-browned, basting frequently with pineapple juice. Add raisins and apricots for last 15 minutes of baking time. Preparation time: 2¼ hrs. Serves 6, 858 cal. per serving. Source of vitamins A, B complex.

Cookies For The Family

BUTTERSCOTCH icebox cookies are made using four egg yolks. They can all be baked at one time, or part baked one day, and part of the dough wrapped in waxed paper and stored in the refrigerator for later baking and serving.

Butterscotch Cookies

Using Egg Yolks

1 c nut meats or raisins or both
2 1/2 c cake flour
2 t baking powder
1/2 t salt
1/2 c shortening
1 c brown sugar
4 egg yolks
1/2 t vanilla
Scald nut meats, drain and chop coarsely. Sift flour, measure and return to sifter. Add baking powder and salt as each is measured. Cream shortening, blend in brown sugar gradually, adding it slowly, and creaming it in as it is added. Beat egg yolks. Stir into sugar and shortening mixture. Blend in vanilla. Add dry ingredients gradually, stirring them in as added. Add nut meats. Drop from the tip of a spoon onto a lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in a hot oven, 435 degrees, until baked through and nicely browned, about 10 minutes.

Coconut Mounds

Ingredients: One-fourth cup butter or margarine, two-thirds cup brown sugar (firmly packed) one-third cup sugar, one egg, 1/2 cup chopped walnut meats, 1/2 cup shredded coconut, 5 cups corn flakes.

Method: Cream butter or margarine and sugars. Add egg and beat well. Add walnut meats, coconut and corn flakes and mix thoroughly. Mixture will be dry. Drop carefully in mounds on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate (350F.) oven 10 minutes, or until done. Make 36 to 40 cookies.

Walnut Brownies

Ingredients: Two squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup walnut meats (broken into small pieces with fingers).

Method: Put chocolate and butter or margarine in top of double boiler and allow to melt over hot water. Beat eggs in medium-sized mixing bowl with electric or hand rotary beater until thick and pale-ivory colored; add sugar gradually, beating in well. Add melted chocolate and stir until blended. Stir in flour and salt lightly, then walnuts. Pour into 8-inch square buttered pan. Bake in moderate (350 F.) oven 25 minutes. Cool on cake rack about 10 minutes; cut into squares while still warm and remove from pan with spatula. Store in tightly covered tin box.

COLOR-BRIGHT VEGETABLES

Vegetables keep their garden-fresh colors when they are cooked in a small amount of water.

RAISIN BREAD AND MILK . . . After-school snack.

Small Fry Love Raisins

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

IF there are children in your family use raisins with a lavish hand in dishes for everyday meals. Serve them, too at snack-time to eat "out of hand" because they're such a wholesome sweet, high in natural fruit sugar they also supply iron, other minerals, and B vitamins.

The dishes improved by raisins are legion—cakes, cookies, puddings, and sauces in the dessert category. In the hot bread section they add flavor to muffins and coffee cakes. They're delicious in stuffings for chicken and duck, as old-fashioned recipes for poultry dressings testify.

Youngsters always enjoy raisins in sandwich fillings. Team them with peanut butter and add a little honey or cream or mayonnaise to moisten. Let them give flavor to bland cottage cheese or cream cheese fillings. Put raisins and walnuts through the food chopper and add a little mayonnaise for a moist delicious spread—especially when it's put between slices of dark whole-wheat bread. Another suggestion is to add them to grated soft yellow cheese along with a little sweet pickle relish.

In the salad department they go well with slaws—cabbage or carrot—and a sour cream dressing. They're good in Waldorf Salad—that old time combination of celery, apples, walnuts and boiled dressing. Youngsters also like them scattered over a salad of crisp romaine leaves and round slices of orange. Or make the salad one of pears—fresh or canned—and fill the fruit cavities with this good sweet.

All youngsters — from preschoolers to teen-agers—will enjoy an after-school snack of slices of homemade raisin loaf served with tall glasses of cold milk. Here's an easy recipe the children themselves can use:

Quick Raisin Loaf

Ingredients: 1 cup bran, 1 1/3 cup seedless raisins, 1 egg (slightly beaten), 3 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar.

Method: Put bran and milk in a mixing bowl to soak. Rinse raisins in hot water, drain and chop with a knife. Add raisins to bran and milk along with beaten egg and melted butter or margarine and mix well. Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar together and add; stir only enough to moisten all dry ingredients. Pour into greased 7x3x3 1/2-inch loaf pan and bake in moderate (350 degrees F.) oven for about 1 hour.

"SAUCY" VEGETABLES

For a bit of variety, serve vegetables occasionally with a cream sauce. Make a thin white sauce in the upper part of a sanitary double boiler. To make enough sauce for six servings, stir 2 tablespoons of flour into 2 tablespoons of hot fat and blend in 2 cups of milk. Cook until thickened. Season and add bits of leftover meat, hard-cooked eggs or grated cheese. Serve over cooked carrots, beans, onions, potatoes or peas.

QUALITY MEAT

Everybody Eats 'em - Pickles

FIGURES released recently by the U. S. Department of Commerce disclose that during 1949 Americans consumed 25,000,000 cases of pickles, which, surprisingly enough, is more than the domestic consumption of canned tomatoes on a case basis.

This disclosure was good news, of course, to the National Pickle Packers Association, whose members also accepted the report on record pickle sales as a challenge, since they will sponsor their second annual "National Pickle Week" from May 18 through 27, with the purpose of topping the 1949 sales.

It is estimated that Americans spent approximately $150,000,000 on pickles of various varieties in 1949.

The increase in pickle consumption is due to several factors, according to the National Pickle Packers Association. They state that pickles have been recognized as a healthful and nutritious food due to their high vitamin and mineral content. Other factors are the increased use of pickles as a tasty addition to cooked foods; their continued use as accompaniments for sandwiches, salads, soups and as garnishes and meal pepper-uppers.

and the fact that pickles are popularly priced to meet almost any budget requirement.

Although women buy more pickles during the summer than any other time of the year, the month of May probably offers more reasons for buying and serving pickles than any other month of the year. May is the forerunner for showers, teas, cocktails and dinners for the bride-to-be. It is also the month to plan graduation parties, good-bye parties for folks leaving for the summer and last but not least . . . people stock up on pickles for summer picnics.

There are pickles for every occasion to go with almost any course. There are whole dills, cross cut sweets, sweet relish, ours, mustard pickles, sweet mixed, fresh packed and kosher style.

Most everyone who enjoys pickles wants them particularly during summer months. This makes sense since pickles are packed full of vitamins A, B, and C as well as minerals such as calcium, phosphorus, iron, and copper plus acetic and lactic acids, sugar and salt. Dill pickles in particular are very valuable as a food for replacing precious body salt lost during extremely hot days.

Tasty Leftovers

A ROAST one day generally means leftovers the next. There is no need for the leftovers not to be tasty. They can be as enjoyable on the second and third appearances, in different forms, as on the first. When the roast gets down to odds and ends of pieces combine with kernel corn and bake as a stuffing in green peppers.

It is a savory and satisfying main dish for noonday luncheon or dinner.

Amounts are given for stuffing four peppers. They can be halved for two, or doubled for eight. The peppers can be stuffed before-hand and left in the refrigerator for last-minute baking.

Any type of ground cooked meat or fish may be used for the stuffing. Ground cooked beef, pork, lamb, veal, chicken, fish (flaked instead of ground) all lend themselves to this method of preparation.

Stuffed Green Peppers
4 green peppers
1½ c ground, cooked meat
1 c whole kernel corn, drained from liquor
¾ c cracker crumbs
2 T chopped onion
2 T chopped green pepper

1/3 c milk
1½ T butter or margarine
Wash green peppers. Stand peppers upright in a small pan. Or you can put them in muffin pans. Now proceed with the preparation of the stuffing.

Chop the meat fine, or grind it. It is a little nicer if ground. Put into mixing bowl as it is prepared. Drain corn from liquid in pan. Roll cracker crumbs fine. You can use bread crumbs, but the cracker crumbs give a little more flavor.

Use onion if you like. You may like to use just a suggestion of onion; you may like to use it liberally. This is always a matter of taste.

Add ingredients to meat in mixing bowl as they are prepared. Add milk. Mix lightly with a fork. Fill peppers with stuffing, putting it in lightly. Dot over the tops with butter or margarine. Add a small amount of water or tomato juice, enough to cover the bottom of the pan. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, until heated through and the peppers are tender, about 45 minutes. Serve immediately. Four servings.

Ground cooked meats can also be shaped into a loaf and baked as a meat loaf in a most savory manner. It, too, will serve four. Meat Loaf, Second Appearance

2 c ground cooked meat
1½ c diced or mashed potatoes
1 T chopped onion
2 T chopped green pepper
1 egg
1 c leftover gravy
Milk to moisten

Prepare foods in order named. Grind meat for this loaf. Here again you can use ground beef, lamb, veal, ham, chicken, or a combination of meats as chicken and ham. Put into mixing bowl as prepared. Add potatoes, onion and green pepper. The egg may be omitted, but it helps to give richness, and to hold the ingredients together. If there is no gravy left over, then just use more milk for the moistening.

Use a fork for the mixing. Mix ingredients lightly. Season to perfection. Put into a loaf pan, or shape in individual loaves in muffin pans. Dot over the top with butter or margarine. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, until firm and nicely browned, about 45 minutes.

Since there are potatoes in this loaf, serve mashed squash and spinach with it. Or serve cauliflower and pickled beets, a crisp cole slaw salad and gingerbread banana shortcake for dessert. How does that sound?

day to day and come up every now and then with something your daughter has never had before—a yummy bun or fancy-shaped roll. Delicious breads can do so much for your highschooler. It can help give her the food energy to join in the sports she loves; to dance for hours on end and still do all the other things she wants to do. Always remember, reliable nutrition charts include bread every day at every meal.

Raisin Honey Bread
Ingredients: 1 cup seedless raisins, 1 cup milk, 1 cake compressed yeast, 2 tablespoons honey, 2 tablespoons melted shortening, 1 egg yolk, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¾ to ¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Method: Rinse raisins and drain. Scald milk and cool to lukewarm. Add crumbled yeast and stir until dissolved. Blend in honey, shortening, lightly beaten egg yolk and salt. Add about half the flour and mix until smooth. Stir in raisins. Add remaining flour, using enough so dough is not sticky. Mix until smooth. Shape into loaf and place in oiled pan. Brush with oil. Cover and let stand in warm place until doubled in bulk (about 1½ to 2 hours). Bake in moderately hot (375 F.) oven 50 to 60 minutes. Brush top of loaf with melted butter or margarine.

Don't Skip By Bread

IF your teenager is passing bread because she wants to look like the skinny models in magazines and willow movie stars, better get across to her the facts of dieting before her health is impaired. Surveys show that too much teen-age dieting is creeping up to American dinner tables. And it may prove to be a real problem if your growing youngster gives up too many wholesome foods like bread. She needs the many nutrients that yeast-raised products can supply—flour enriched with iron and vitamins, vitamin-packed yeast, butter heavy with vitamin A, milk and eggs. And what's more, the texture of bread, in relation to that of other foods, aids in the process of digestion. This in itself is important.

So, if your youngster is one who aspires to the skinny model look, explain to her the trick is in makeup, clothes and the angle of the camera working together to give that willow effect. But that the fresh pretty face and attractive figure are impossible without nourishing foods to produce them.

Pop Corn On-The-Cob

HERE'S a new party treat for your youngster's next birthday or celebration. Try these novel ears of popcorn-on-the-cob. They're guaranteed to catch the fancy of the junior set around your house. Teen-agers, too, will enjoy making their own ears of pop corn-on-the-cob at their next "Coke" party. They'll love decorating the ears in their own ways, and you'll find pop corn easy on your food budget, too. Here's the easy way to make these delicious ears of pop corn-on-the-cob.

Pop Corn On-The-Cob
Pop enough corn to make 6 cups of popped corn, (about two poppers full). Make sure you get the right kind of pop corn—the kind that comes packed in airtight metal cans. This way, you are guaranteed that every kernel pops—never any 'old maids' or scratchy hulls.
Then take: 1 cup sugar; 1/2 cup water; 1 teaspoon vinegar; 2 tablespoons white corn syrup; 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Cook above ingredients over slow fire, until a part, tested in cold water, forms a hard ball. Add one tablespoon butter or margarine. Pour this mixture over six cups of popped pop corn.
While still warm form into shape of ears of corn. This will make about six ears of corn. For added fun, use green cellophane for husks, cutting cellophane into strips shaped like the leaves of the husks, and tie with string or ribbon at one end. Better still, try using real corn husks to give your party that "down on the farm" look.

MEAT QUERIES

Q. What temperature should be used for deep fat frying meat?
A. Uncooked meat (for example liver or ground meat croquettes); use 350 degrees F. to 360 degrees F. For cooked meats use 360 degrees F. to 365 degrees F.
Q. What are toppings for meat pies?
A. Mashed sweet or Irish potatoes, rice, Chinese noodles, pastry or biscuit dough.
Q. What cuts of meat may be used for a beef stew?
A. Beef neck, chuck, brisket, short ribs or other less tender cuts.

CHEESE BAVARIAN—Cottage cheese, fruit and cream.

The Cookbook

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Here's a New Dessert Treat

LOOKING for a fresh-tasting spring dessert, easy to eat, lovely to look at? We've got it—a combination of two plentiful dairy foods, cottage cheese and cream, and canned cling peaches, also on the plentiful list.

Cheese Bavarian
(Serves 8)
Two cups cottage cheese, 2 egg yolks, 3/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk, 1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin, 1 No. 1 can (2 cups) sliced cling peaches, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon lemon rind, 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten, 1 cup cream, whipped.
Drain cottage cheese to remove excess moisture. Combine egg yolks, sugar, salt and milk; cook over boiling water until mixture thickens. Drain peaches and reserve for garnish. Heat 1/2 cup of the peach juice and dissolve gelatin in it. Add hot milk mixture, stir until blended. Blend in cottage cheese, lemon juice and rind.

Fold in egg white and whipped cream.

Transfer to deep six-inch mold (1 1/2 quart size). Top with rye crumb crust. Chill for at least two hours. When ready to serve dip mold in warm water and turn out on serving plate. Garnish, if desired, with toasted buttered rye wafer triangles, and a bit of cottage cheese. Surround with cling peach slices.

Rye Crumb Crust
One cup crisp wafer crumbs (about 15 wafers), 1/3 cup melted butter, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg.
Mix ingredients together. Use with cottage cheese Bavarian. (NEA Service, Inc.)

USE FOR EXTRA EGG YOLKS
When just the egg whites are used in a recipe, it is sometimes a problem to know what to do with the leftover yolks. One way is to bring a cup or two of water to boil in a saucepan. Drop the yolks gently into the water and simmer until firm. They use for salads, sandwich fillings and garnishes.

ASPARAGUS AND WALNUTS... Delicious luncheon team.

Spring Tonics From Garden

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Nothing tastes better, come springtime, than asparagus — cooked until tender, bursting with green. I like to lay them in a deep skillet with a tightly-fitting cover, and add just enough water to steam them so the asparagus stems cook in the same amount of time as the buds. Before cooking, clean the asparagus carefully in cold water with a vegetable brush and pare off the scales and then outer covering of the stalks with a razor-like vegetable parer.

For a fine luncheon team the asparagus with an easy-to-make sauce, deviled eggs and olives, hot rolls and coffee.

Asparagus With Mushroom Walnut Sauce

Ingredients: 2 pounds fresh asparagus, 1 ten-and-one-half-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup, ½ cup milk, ¼ cup broken walnut meats.

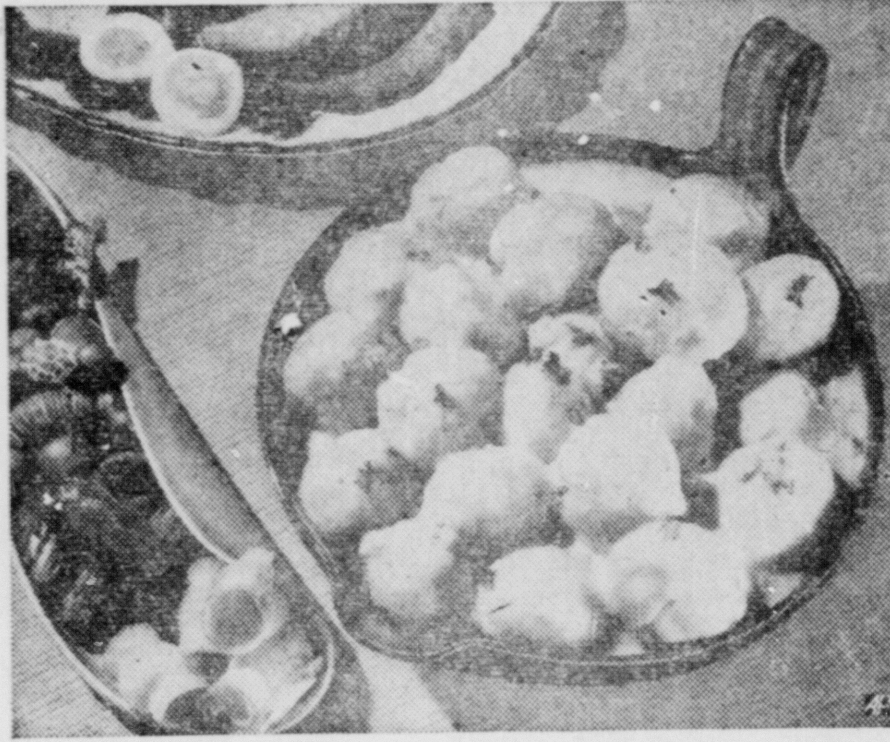

Method: Cook asparagus in small amount of lightly salted water until just tender. Stir soup well; add milk a little at a time, stirring until well mixed. Heat; add walnuts. Drain asparagus; place on platter. Pour hot sauce over ends of stalks. Makes 5 servings.

And how about a new way to sauce potatoes? This sauce, too, is made from a handy can of soup. Try these potatoes with a meat loaf.

New Potatoes With Chicken and Parsley Sauce

Ingredients: 1 pound new potatoes, ¾ cup canned condensed cream of chicken soup, ¼ cup milk, 2 teaspoons minced parsley.

Method: Cook potatoes in 1 inch of unsalted water until tender; drain. Mix soup and milk, blending well. Add to potatoes and heat over hot water. Sprinkle with parsley just before serving. Makes 4 servings.

POTATOES WITH CHICKEN SAUCE... From canned soup.

Tasty Creole of Shrimp

THIS is the story of a shrimp stew—a sort of creole dish that is said to have originated over a camp fire back of the tracks. It seems that a band of Knights of the Road had gathered to cook a meal with whatever resources the group could muster.

An inventory brought to light a can of mushrooms, a can of tomatoes, one of peas, an onion, salt and pepper, a loaf of bread and two cans of shrimps.

One of the hoboes who had a reputation for ingenuity was elected "chef." Using a tin can for the cooking he made a sauce from the peas, tomatoes, chopped onion and seasoning. Then he added the shrimp and mushrooms and served the dish with thick slices of bread to soak up the sauce. The result was a dish which the hobo lords acclaimed as a true masterpiece.

From this humble beginning comes a recipe which can be a fine emergency dish for modern homemakers. With most of the ingredients on the pantry shelf, it takes only a few minutes to prepare a delightful meal.

Translated into standard measurements, the recipe might go something like this—with special dashes of seasoning to suit individual tastes.

Hobo Shrimp Creole

2 T bacon fat
½ c chopped onion
½ c diced celery
2 T flour
1 t salt

¼ t pepper
1 t Worcestershire sauce
1 No 2 can tomatoes
1½ c canned peas
1 3-ounce can mushroom pieces
2 5-ounce cans shrimp

Heat bacon fat in saucepan. Add onion and celery and cook until tender. Do not brown. Stir in flour, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Add tomatoes and simmer about 30 minutes, uncovered. Stir in shrimp, peas and mushrooms and heat thoroughly. Serve over mounds of hot boiled rice. Makes 5 servings.

FIGHTING to liquidate the State's Rights party in Alabama, Senator Lister Hill is opposed for Democratic renomination in primary May 2 by a Dixiecrat and a state organization controlled by Dixiecrats.

THRILLER WITH A THRIFTY STREAK. Like power? Then try this. The Buick Riviera Sedan on the SUPER chassis with the newest and latest thing in thrill-packed power plants, the F-263 Fireball. Makes gas go a long way, too, as the really surprising mileage records of our customers show.

Will you try the car that's ALWAYS ON THE LEVEL?

NOT all roads are boulevards, and not every street can always be level as a ballroom floor.

But if you think, sir, that there's nothing you can do about it—are you game to make a test that may prove you wrong?

All we want you to do is sample a Buick ride.

We want you to sit in this broad seat and aim your gun-sight ornament at the roughest stretch of road you know.

We want you to see how soft coil springs all around, not on front wheels alone, soak up those jars and jolts, fairly float you over cobbles, railroad crossings and weather-pocked macadam.

We want you to try the back seat—and see how free of toss and throw it is, how soft, low-pressure tires on wide Safety-Ride rims cut down the sway and swerve on sudden curves.

Feel, please, the steadiness of this car under you as Buick's stout torque-tube takes rear wheel wiggle-waggle out of your going.

Note the quick, firm snub of Buick shock absorbers, the absence of engine vibration, the sensation of soaring over roads on which your wheels never lose their sure-footed grip, the special liquid smoothness of Dynaflow Drive.*

Particularly if you've been driving a car that seems patterned to move ahead by leaps and bounds, we want you to experience a Buick ride for comparison's sake.

Try any Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—they're all "on the level" with you all the time, as we'd like to demonstrate.

Just see your own Buick dealer. Ask him for a no-obligation test ride. After that—well, decide for yourself if you hadn't "better buy Buick!"

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

ONLY BUICK HAS Dynaflow

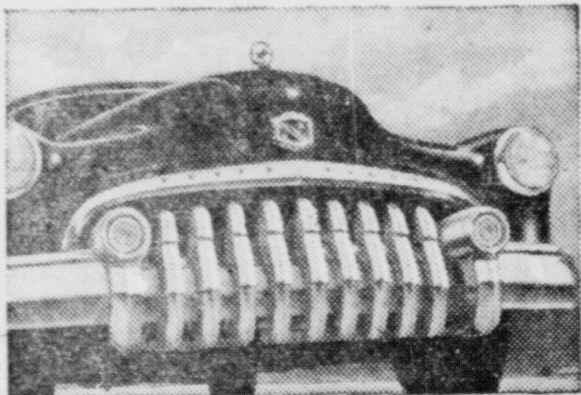

AND WITH IT GOES: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

WHATEVER YOUR PRICE RANGE

"Better buy Buick"
Phone your BUICK dealer for a demonstration—Right Now!

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT
This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Western Cattlemen Finding Booming Market At Home

WASHINGTON, April 27 — (AP) — Western cattlemen no longer look to the industrial East as a major market for their beef. Instead, they are finding a booming market right at home—a demand that might expand beyond their ability to satisfy. This broadening home market reflects a large increase in population in West Coast and Rocky Mountain states.

Over the past 25 years, the population of the 11 western states plus Texas has grown more than three times as fast as the rest of the country.

Cattlemen of the West used to be dependent upon the East for a market. Cattle raised on western rangeland were shipped to midwestern feed lots, where they were fattened on corn and other high-protein feeds to give them the so-called quality "finish" demanded by eastern consumers.

Ups and downs in economic conditions in the East were promptly reflected in the cattlemen's markets, prices and income. The bulk of what meat was consumed in the West was slaughtered and processed in midwestern packing plants.

But expansion of industrial facilities in the West has resulted in the past 25 years in a big jump in the demand for meat there. This encouraged the building of many meat packing plants in the West. They became competitors of midwestern and eastern slaughterers for the western cattlemen's livestock.

Unless the present trend is reversed, eastern packers will have to depend more and more on areas other than the West for their slaughter animal supplies.

There is no indication now that the West's population growth is coming to a halt.

This decline in shipments of western cattle to midwestern and eastern markets shows that there is opportunity, farm officials say, for expansion in beef cattle raising in areas now producing surplus crops—such as cotton, peanuts, tobacco, and the like.

Much land now being depleted by producing unneeded crops should be put into grass for cattle grazing, these officials say. Unless this is done, they add, meat supplies could become relatively short.

Meanwhile, there is the possibility that the West may need to develop a cattle-feeding industry as well as cattle-raising and grazing.

Most of the cattle slaughtered in the West now are grass-fed stock. They are not fattened to the heavy weights that grain-fed cattle are in the corn belt. There are two reasons for this: (1) The West is satisfied with meat with less finish than is usual in some other parts of the country; (2) There is not enough feed in the West to give cattle a finished quality.

If westerners should develop a taste for well fattened beef, that would encourage wheat farming out there. Corn cannot be grown very successfully in the West, but wheat can. And cattle get just as fat on wheat as on corn.

Employers' Reports To State Due Monday

Employers subject to the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Law must file their tax reports and make their tax payments for the first quarter of 1950 before midnight next Monday, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation warned today.

The reports and tax payments are due from employers hiring three or more workers or part-time workers on any one day during the quarter. Twenty-one types of employment are not covered by the Ohio Law, and employers who are not certain whether they are subject to the law are advised to write to the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, 427 Cleveland Ave., Columbus 16, Ohio.

Last May, 30 Ohio farm people died as the result of farm accidents.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

YOUR GARDEN

Buy Trees - Shrubs With Care

By HENRY FREE

PROPERLY chosen trees and shrubs are among the home owner's best friends as they afford beauty and permanence to the yard and garden, a welcome to the guest, and a profusion of colorful bloom throughout the season.

When considering new trees and shrubs the wise gardener does not place his order until he has learned their habit of growth, their hardiness and their adaptability to the desired location.

While it's somewhat confusing to the amateur to listen to the nurseryman's botanical names of plants it is his only way of differentiating between the various members of a plant family.

There are at least 10 varieties of forsythia listed by nurserymen. Some are poor in flower and habit of growth, one or two are weeping, while the flower buds of one splendid variety winter-kill so badly in the North that the plant seldom blooms. The best variety for northern areas is forsythia intermedia spectabilis.

All varieties of privets do not make satisfactory hedges. The one called California sometimes freezes to the ground. The English one called vulgaris is subject to disease. The best varieties are obtusifolium regelianum and amurense. It is a satisfaction to have the right variety growing in a hedge because in the beginning you thought before you purchased.

Mistakes are often made by beginning gardeners in buying evergreens. Little balled evergreens look attractive in their nursery row and seem to be just the plant for growing under a window.

Unless some questions are asked about the habits of the plant, you are just likely to buy a plant that in 10 years' time will be a forest tree. It starts out as a dwarf, but it might cover up the whole house and block the light and view from the windows.

When choosing shade trees for the garden, learn their habits when they have matured. Trees like Norway maples and box elders provide such a dense shade that no other plants can grow under them. Soft maples, poplars and willows have such enormous root systems that they may block drains and take up all available plant food.

The elm and honey locust are high branched and do not have dense foliage. Likewise the elm is subject to two fatal diseases. Also think about planting nut trees for shade trees, and small growing trees such as the flowering crab. These latter plants will give bloom as well as providing shade.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Q—When should eggplant seed be sown? We have a coldframe. Please give culture details.

A — A long-season crop, eggplant must be started in flats six to eight weeks before outdoor planting. Sow flats at the same time as you sow seed for tomatoes. Transplant when the young plants are three to four inches tall, to give them space to develop before being placed in the garden after danger of frost is past. Then place four feet apart in the row. When plants are half grown, a mulch of a couple of inches of straw or other material helps conserve moisture.

Q—Which of the magnolias do you recommend for the front lawn of a 50-foot lot? The property receives sunlight practically all day.

A — The several varieties of Magnolia Soulangiana are the most satisfactory. Soulangiana itself has medium pink flowers 4 to 5 inches in diameter. The variety Lennei is darker, particularly on the outside of the petals and blooms about a week later. My favorite is Soulangiana Nigra, with dark purple flowers.
